THE

Newport Mercury,

—PUBLISHED BY—

JOHN P. SANBORN,

188 Thames, Cor. Pelham St.,

NEWPORT, R. I.

THE NEWPORT MERCURY was established in June, 1758, and is now in its one hundred and twenty-fifth year. It is the oldest newspaper in the Union, and, with less than half a dozen exceptions, the oldest printed in the English language. It is a large quarto weekly of fifty-six columns filled with interesting reading—editorial, State, local and general news, well-selected miscellany and a valuable farmers' and household department.—Reaching so many households in this and other States, the limited space given to advertising is very valuable to business men.

TERMS: $2 00 a year in advance; single copies in wrappers, 5 cents.

☞ Specimen copies sent free, and special terms given advertisers by addressing the publisher.

Local Matters.

The Free Delivery Started.

The free delivery was begun very [illegible]ably yesterday morning. The five carriers reported for duty on time, and delivered their collections from the boxes, amounting to several hundred letters and papers. They were then started on the morning delivery, taking out 1887 letters and papers. They reported again with the second collections at two o'clock, and started on the second delivery trip as soon as possible after the arrival of the afternoon New York mail. The first day's deliveries will amount to over 3000 pieces. The men wear a neat uniform of cadet gray with trimmings of broad braid, and a cap modeled after a midshipman's except with higher crown. The suits were furnished by J. H. Cozzens & Son.

The citizens are rapidly leaving orders to have their mail delivered by the carrier, and already some 50 boxes have been given up. The new arrangement of course does not work without considerable friction, but Postmaster Coggeshall expects to have everything in most satisfactory condition after a few days.

The Public Schools.

The public schools begin the school year next Monday, and the scholars are expected to report in the room, where they were last term. This new Potter school-house on Elm-st will be opened with the Third and Fourth Grammar and First and Second Intermediate Grades. The following transfers of teachers have been made: Miss R. T. Bosworth, Third Grammar, from Mill-st to Elm-st; Miss Greene, Third Grammar, from Clarke-st to Mill-st; Miss Tilley, Fourth Grammar, from Cranston-ave to Elm-st; Miss S. E. Fales, First Intermediate, from Willow-st to Elm-st; and Miss Pitman, Second Intermediate, from Farewell-st to Elm-st. During the summer the school buildings have all been put in the usual order for the coming year.

Off on Old Ocean.

The schooner yacht Dauntless, Caldwell H. Colt of Hartford, Ct., owner, left this port at 2:45 P. M., Monday, on a pleasure trip to Europe, sailing for Southampton, England. The yacht will winter in the Mediterranean, and return home next summer. With Mr. Colt are Dr. Fisher, fleet captain of the New York Yacht Club; Gouverneur Kortright of New York, Henry Wilmerding of Hartford, and J. Neilson Howard of this city. Mr. Howard will return to Newport the first of November. Captain Charles H. Caswell is in command of the yacht with Capt. Samuel Smith, first officer, both of this city. A large party of friends accompanied Mr. Colt as far as the lightship, returning on the yacht Wizard.

The Artillery's Annual Outing.

At a meeting of the Newport Artillery Co., at their armory on Tuesday evening, it was voted to make a two days' excursion on Sept. 20 and 21, and the plan agreed to was as follows: Leave Newport by the morning boat on Wednesday, Sept. 20, for Providence, and upon arrival there to make a short street parade; leave by the noon train for Warren where the soldiers will dine and make a street parade; next they will proceed to Bristol where they will sup, sleep, breakfast, parade and dine on Thursday, returning home by the same steamer upon which they left and which is to call at Bristol for them. The Newport Band, Mr. Mathers, will accompany them on the excursion.

A Fortunate Find.

Mr. A. Manton Chace and a friend while sailing in the harbor on Tuesday were hailed by a stranger in another boat, who informed them that he had lost overboard a pocket book containing money, &c. Mr. Chace requested the stranger to get into the boat with him and said they would endeavor to find it. The stranger acquiesced, and was fortunate in finding it floating on the surface of the water. It contained $30 in money, besides other articles and the water did not penetrate sufficiently to injure the contents.

Liquor Cases in Court.

Several cases for selling liquor contrary to law came up in the Justice Court yesterday. Charles Bickerton was adjudged guilty on one warrant for keeping and on two for selling liquor. He appealed and gave bail. John Irish was found guilty of keeping and Wm. H. Irish for selling. They appealed and gave bail. Thomas McLaughlin was found guilty of keeping and selling. J. F. Mayberry was found guilty of keeping and Peter Melville of selling. Both appealed and furnished bail.

At the Skating Rink.

On Thursday evening next occurs the third grand carnival of the season. These carnivals have been the greatest successes of the season at the rink, and the one to be held next week promises to exceed both others in brilliancy of costumes and number of participants.

The Rev. H. J. van Dyke, Jr., will leave on Monday for a month's vacation, which he will spend in the Adirondacks.

THE POTTER SCHOOL-HOUSE.

Its Dedication on Wednesday Afternoon.

The new Potter school house on Elm-st was dedicated on Wednesday afternoon with appropriate exercises. At three o'clock, one of the school rooms of the building was well filled. The Rev. Dr. Randolph opened the services with prayer. Captain S. W. Macy, the chairman of the trustees of the Long Wharf fund, presided and delivered an interesting address, reviewing the proceedings of the trustees in relation to the building. He referred to the excellent manner in which Mr. William E. Crandall, the architect and superintendent of the building, had performed his duties, saying that "he has spared no labor in having the building complete in all its details." Captain Macy then handed the keys of the schoolhouse to His Honor Mayor Franklin, who, in accepting them, complimented the building committee on the beautiful structure, neat and attractive, pleasant and commodious. He pronounced it to be a monument to the fidelity of the committee and the trustees they represent. The Mayor then delivered the keys to Judge Darius Baker, chairman of the School Committee. Mr. Baker said that it had long seemed desirable to have a building in the First Ward for higher grades than those that have maintained there, and that now all parts of the city except the Fifth Ward are provided with suitable school accommodations. He thanked the trustees for their kind tendered thanks to the trustees, and trusted deed in providing this building, and that in it nothing but solid learning, good manners and a pure morality would be taught.

Hon. Thomas B. Stockwell, State Commissioner of Public Schools, was next introduced. He said that this was the second school house in Newport in whose dedication he had assisted. He said that such occasions were great encouragements to him in his work, for they are the outward evidence of actual progress in education. He believed the name to very appropriate, and that if there is one thing in which we are a little behind our ancestors, it is in failing sometimes in a wise forecast of the future, doing good for the days that are to come. We are reaping richly rewards of those who died long ago, and it is our duty so transmit all these privileges, increased many fold, to those who are to come after us. Mr. Stockwell pronounced this to be a most excellent structure. It would not spoil the children, but would tend to educate every child towards the ideal American civilization, a life of rightly directed activity. The only sure agency to reach this ideal is the common school. Mr. Stockwell thought that education should be more than practical, that it should lead the learner to a knowledge of himself, so that he can be furnished with some definite plan of life. Mr. Stockwell declared that if there is a danger that threatens mental New England, it is a demoralization arising from improper reading, and the schools must shape the reading of the children. The public library is largely supplementing this work. The children must also be taught to look forward to a life of labor, for we truly enjoy only that which we labor to attain. Mr. Stockwell believed that imagination is a powerful factor in education, and that no branch of study better cultivates this factor than drawing.

Mr. George A. Littlefield, the new superintendent of public schools, was next introduced. He expressed his thanks for the enlarged opportunities afforded the schools and his congratulations on the artistic structure furnished by the trustees. He said that on an occasion like this, we have most in mind our children, and what shall be our safest and best legacy to them? It is the means of obtaining a good, moral education. Let us continue our watchfulness over our educational institutions. Our schools, generally speaking, need better teachers, and our courses of study to be made more practical and thorough. These improvements are needed all over New England, and the power to effect them rests in the parents. Mr. Littlefield also commented on the danger that menaces the country from illiteracy.

Rev. Mr. Van Horne spoke briefly, urging the enactment of a compulsory educational law. He closed the exercises with the benediction.

Robberies and Losses.

On Saturday night burglars entered the house of Wm. H. Thurston on Broadway. They closed the door of Mr. Thurston's sleeping room, after taking out his wearing apparel. They secured a gold watch, several articles of jewelry and some solid silver spoons, etc. The previous night, the house of F. W. Andrews on Maple-ave was entered, and articles to the value of about one hundred dollars were stolen.

On Tuesday evening, Mrs. J. A. Stevens, Jr., and daughter of New York, were at High and Mary-sts, when a colored man stopped them and asked the way to John-st. Mrs. Stevens raised her arm to point the way, when the fellow snatched her purse from her arm and made off at a fast pace. The ladies called for help, and the men in No. 5 Engine House responding, started on a go-as-you-please race after him, but the thief had a good start, and managed to shake off his pursuers in a side street.

That night an unsuccessful attempt was made to enter the house occupied by Mrs. Stevens, on Beach st.

Newport Light Infantry.

A meeting of Co. B, 2d Battalion, R. I. M., was held at the armory on Tuesday evening, Lieut. C. G. Davol presiding, to elect a captain in place of the late Capt. Jaques. The election resulted as follows, nearly every member of the company being present:

Captain—Philip F. Schneider.
1st Lieut—Wm. J. T. Northup.
2d Lieut—Jacob Miller.

At the Casino Theatre.

Sam Lucas with his splendid company of jubilee songsters will give entertainments at the Casino theatre this (Saturday) morning at eleven o'clock and this evening at 8:30. Sam is pronounced to be a whole programme in himself, while his company is exceptionally good.

F. B. Porter & Co. have sold for H. Sidney Everett of Boston, 40,000 square feet of land on Gibbs-ave to Major Theodore K. Gibbs of New York at 35 cents a foot, amounting to $14,000.

THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The National Lawn Tennis Tournament at the Casino in Progress This Week—The Winners Thus Far.

The National Lawn Tennis tournament at the Casino opened on Wednesday and Thursday with fine weather and a very large attendance. On Wednesday the singles were begun, and two rounds were played, reducing the winners to nine, namely: Gray of Boston, Powel of Newport, Sears of Boston, Nightingale of Providence, Conover of Newark, N. J., Rives, of Newport, J. S. and C. M. Clark of Philadelphia, Rankine of Staten Island, and Dwight of Nahant. On Thursday the third round was played with this result:

Gray beat Nightingale	6	4	6	4
Rankine beat Powel	6	4	5	6 7 5
Dwight beat J. S. Clark	6	1	6	0
Sears beat Conover	6	1	9	4
C. M. Clark beat Rives	6	3	2	6 6 1

In the fourth set Gray drew a bye, Dwight, who was pitted against C. M. Clark, retired with his knee hurt, and Sears beat Rankine, 6 0 6 4.

On Thursday afternoon the first round of the pairs was played with this result:

Clark and Taylor beat Bolt and Codman, withdrawn; Van Rensselaer and Newbold beat Rives and Stevens, 5 6 6 2 6 2; Glyn and Thorn beat Eldridge and Rankine, 6 1 5 6 7 5; Smith and Nightingale beat Rathbone and Kneeland, 6 0 6 2; Conover and Miller beat Congdon and Rhodes, 6 3 6 2; Powel and Johnson beat Thomes and Denniston, 6 0 6 2; Clark and Dixon beat Butler and Woodman, 3 6 6 2 6 1; Dwight and Sears drew a bye.

The winners in the singles get a silver cup offered by the association; also a copper placque, with appropriate designs, given by two Philadelphia gentlemen, and to become the holder's property on the third winning; also the prize racket valued at $500, offered by Horsman of New York for ten years' competition. The second, third and fourth men receive valuable prize rackets. The winners in the doubles receive from the association a pair of copper mugs, gilt lined and suitably engraved.

Yesterday, in the fifth round of singles, C. M. Clark beat Edward Gray, by scores of 6 3 6 2. Gray did not play his usual brilliant game. To-morrow Clark will play against Sears, last year's champion, in the final round for the championship. Gray gets second and the others will take first and third prize, and Sears will win. It is expected that Sears will win. The second round of doubles yesterday resulted as follows:

Dwight and Sears beat Powel and Johnson, 6 5 6 1; Van Rensselaer and Newbold beat Conover and Miller, 6 4 4 6 6 4; C. M. Clark and Taylor beat Thorn and Glyn, 6 4 6 0; and Nightingale and [illegible] beat J. S. Clark and Dixon, 6 2 1 6 6 [illegible]. In the third round, Dwight and Sears beat Clark and Taylor, 6 4 6 1. This was a surprise, as the latter team have held the championship two years. Owing to the rain, further play was postponed till to-day, Van Rensselaer and Newbold will play against Nightingale and Smith, and the winners against Dwight and Sears for the championship.

A SERIOUS CONFLAGRATION.

Hall's Cliff House Partly Burned Down.

Soon after eight o'clock on Saturday morning fire broke out in Hall's Cliff House, starting in the kitchen from burning fat. The fire soon got beyond the control of the servants, and an alarm was struck, followed shortly after by a second alarm. There was considerable delay in getting water after the engines arrived, and the fire gained great headway. The building was in great part burned down before the fire was got under control, and the cottage standing near the hotel kitchen, was also badly damaged. The fifty guests in the main house escaped in safety, but most of them lost some or all of their personal effects, while the servants lost nearly all their clothing. The furniture of the hotel was owned by William T. Hall, the lessee of the building, and it was insured for $9000 in Henry Bull's agency. The greater part of the furniture was got out in a more or less damaged condition. Mr. Hall estimates his loss at about $6000. The building was owned by Mrs. William Gammell of Providence, and the insurance will about cover the loss. The partly burned cottage is owned by Mr. Hall and was occupied by James T. Burden of Troy, N. Y. Mr. Hall had insurance of $1800 on the building, and the loss is probably no greater than this.—Mr. Burden saved the most of his effects. Some of the guests of the hotel lost heavily. Mrs. Charles A. Newhall of Philadelphia had some fifteen hundred dollars worth of wearing apparel burned, while Mrs. Parsons of New York lost a diamond valued at $4000. This, it is understood, has been returned to the owner. Several ladies kindly interested themselves in raising a subscription for the servant girls, who lost their effects, and some $200 were secured and divided among them.

At the south of the main building stands a cottage, occupied by I. Townsend Burden of Troy, N. Y. The morning of the fire his infant child died, and when the hotel was burning, the little body was hurriedly removed to a villa near by. The fire, however, did not touch the cottage.

Coaster's Harbor Island.

On Saturday last Secretary of the Navy Chandler visited Coaster's Harbor Island, and formally took possession of the island as the site of the United States training station. The secretary was accompanied by Commodore English and the heads of the naval bureaus. Among those present were Governor Littlefield, Lieut. Gov. Fay, Senator Aldrich, Mayor Franklin, members of the City Council, and of the Asylum Commissioners, Hon. J. M. Addeman, Postmaster Coggeshall, Collector Cozzens, Captain Cotton, Senator Miller of California, and Representatives Harris and Morse of Massachusetts. Mayor Franklin in a brief address welcomed the Secretary, who returned his thanks for his kind reception, and accepted the island on behalf of the government. A salute of 21 guns was fired. An excellent collation was furnished by the Asylum Commissioners.

The party next visited the training ship New Hampshire and later the Torpedo Station was formally inspected by the Secretary, who was received with a welcome of 19 torpedoes. On Monday the Secretary proceeded east in the Tallapoosa, to continue his tour of inspection along the coast.

The September session of the City Council will be held on Tuesday evening next.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR AT NEWPORT.

A Basket Picnic.

Saturday morning the President visited the Casino in company with Mrs. E. D. Morgan, Jr. In the afternoon a subscription basket picnic under the management of Thomas F. Cushing and Ward McAllister was held in the President's honor at the Balch place on Easton's Point. Some 300 cottagers drove over, and President Arthur attended with Governor Morgan. The villa was tastefully decorated by Landers with flags, and red, white and blue streamers.—The guests danced the german on a fifty-foot platform, built on the lawn. Each carriage party brought eatables and drinkables, and these were served on some fifty small tables placed out of doors. The picnic lasted three hours and was a most enjoyable success.

Polo Followed by Dinner.

After returning from the picnic, the President and Mrs. E. D. Morgan, Jr. drove down to the polo grounds, and witnessed the exciting sport of polo on ponies. Apparently most of the spectators were not aware of his presence, as his coming and going were not formally noticed. Saturday evening the President was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Astor at their villa "Beaulieu." The guests were: The President, Secretary Frelinghuysen, Secretary Chandler, Lieut. Gov. Henry H. Fay, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Astor, ex-Gov. and Mrs. E. D. Morgan, ex-Governor and Mrs. Carroll of Maryland, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Dickey, Commander Gorringe, U. S. N., Miss C. L. Wolfe, Geo. L. Schuyler, George Bancroft, and Major General Howe.

A Quiet Sabbath.

Sunday morning the President with Gov. Morgan attended service at the United Congregational church, and listened to an earnest and practical sermon by the Rev. Henry J. van Dyke, Jr. The spacious church was filled with the largest audience for years.—The President took a stroll on the Cliffs in the afternoon; spent an hour with his private secretary, Mr. Phillips; took a drive with Mrs. E. D. Morgan, Jr., and drank tea with Mrs. J. C. Green of New York, at the residence of her brother, John N. A. Griswold.

The Astor Breakfast.

Monday morning President Arthur was entertained with an elegant breakfast by the Hon. and Mrs. William Waldorf Astor at the Thorp villa, on Halidon Hill. The lawn was tastefully adorned with choice tropical and other plants, and the New Hampshire's band rendered a programme of choice music. The principal decoration of the breakfast table was an immense bed of roses extending the entire length of the table and measuring two and a half feet in width. At each guest's plate was a natural lily-of-the-valley leaf, on which was painted in gold the words "The President" and the name of the guest. The guests were President Arthur, Secretary Frelinghuysen, Gov. E. D. Morgan, Secretary of State Frelinghuysen, the historian, Lieut. Commander George Bancroft, [illegible] McAllister, August Belmont, Commander Gorringe, Wa[illegible] James W. Paul, George Tiffany, [illegible] Phelps, A. John Jacob Astor, and Royal [illegible] guests were at the table from 11 to 1:30.

The Ocean House Reception.

From 2 until 3 o'clock that afternoon the President held a very pleasant public reception at the Ocean House to the cottagers and citizens of Newport. The President occupied a station at one end of the spacious parlor, and during the hour fully a thousand cottagers, citizens and strangers filed through the apartment and received the Presidential hand-shake, with pleasant words of welcome. The parlor was handsomely decorated with palms and other tropical plants. There were few formal introductions, owing to the limited time the President had to spare. With the President were Secretary of State Frelinghuysen, Gen. Schofield, U. S. A., Gen. Preston of Kentucky, Senator Miller of California, and Representatives Harris and Morse of Massachusetts. The ushers for the occasion were Postmaster Thos. Coggeshall, Col. E. M. Neill of the United Legation in Mexico, Col. Wm. J. Cozzens, E. A. Crocker, Dr. A. F. Squire, A. S. Sherman, T. M. Seabury, 2d, and John H. P. Dodge. The affair was a great gratification to Newporters, who were thus afforded an opportunity of greeting the President before his departure.

Looking at the Fox Hunt.

In the afternoon President Arthur drove to the fox hunt with Mrs. W. W. Astor and occupied a prominent position, where he obtained an excellent view of the picturesque scene. He took the easy method of following the hounds in his carriage over the nearest highway a part of the way to the death. He then returned to the city and attended for a few moments a reception held by Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Low of Brooklyn, at their villa in Harrison-ave.

A Magnificent Dinner.

That evening the dinner given in his honor by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ellis of New York, at Fair Lawn, was one of the most brilliant entertainments with which the President has been honored during his sojourn in Newport. A circular dining-table 13 feet in diameter stood in the beautiful ball-room of the mansion. In the centre of the table was placed an immense basket of Jacqueminot and Marechal Niel roses, with smilax trailing to the edge of the table and winding around the different handsome silver dishes. The dinner-cards were gilt-edged, with the Ellis monogram and the name of the guest painted in gold. The spacious apartment was profusely decorated with palms and growing plants, and the four magnificent chandeliers were dressed with smilax. The ball-room, which is the handsomest in Newport, is hung with richly embroidered satin, and the furniture is finished in white and gold. At the further end of the apartment two conservatories open into it, and between them and facing the drawing-room doors is the celebrated picture "Le Ravissement de Saint Cecile," by Jules Marchard. Mrs. Ellis received her guests in the drawing-room, which was decorated with baskets of flowers, noticeably a lovely one composed entirely of larkspur. Mrs. Ellis wore a white satin robe with duchesse lace flounces and lace overskirt, with necklace of diamonds. At the table the President sat at the right of Mrs. Ellis, with Secretary of State Frelinghuysen at her left, while Mrs. John Jacob Astor sat on the President's right. The other guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Waldorf Astor, John Jacob Astor, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Kernochan, Mr. Frelinghuysen, Miss Lucy Frelinghuysen, Governor and Mrs. E. D. Morgan, Commodore and Mrs. C. H. Baldwin, Ward McAllister, Miss McAllister, Miss Zelia Gibbs, Mr. Phillips, the President's secretary, Ralph N. Ellis, N. M. Beckwith and Miss Beckwith.

Graves Point Investigated.

On Tuesday the President visited Graves Point bass fishing station as the guest of Col. George R. Fearing, John Whipple and S. B. French. The President rode down with Col. Fearing in his four-in-hand, and returned over the Ocean Drive with August Belmont. No fishing was done, as there are no bass this year.

A Dinner with Mrs. Paran Stevens.

Tuesday evening the President dined with Mrs. Paran Stevens of New York. The apartments on the first floor of her villa have recently been refurnished most magnificently, the ceilings being perhaps the richest in our cottage city. The rooms were decorated with the beautiful palms and other tropical plants that adorn the villa during the entire summer. The dining-room is hung with fine paintings, and was also beautified with tropical plants. The mantel was filled with a gorgeous array of sunflowers; the centre of the table was occupied by a lovely floral piece, composed of marigolds, allamandas and maiden-hair ferns. At each plate was a delicate little bouquet of marigolds and maiden-hair fern. All the flowers were in different shades of yellow, and, as well as nearly all the luscious fruits served, were from Mrs. Stevens' own greenhouses. At the table the President was seated at the right of Mrs. Stevens, with Robert S. Hone of New York, at her left, while Mrs. Thomas F. Cushing of Boston sat at the President's right. The other guests were: Secretary of State Frelinghuysen, Miss Frelinghuysen, Col. Jerome N. Bonsparte of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic W. Stevens, Mrs. James M. Waterbury, Mrs. G. L. Rives, Edgerton Winthrop, Mrs. G. Griswold Gray and Harry Stevens of New York. From half past ten until midnight a reception was held, attended by a large number of people, including Aristarchi Bey, the Turkish Minister, Count Lippe Weissenfeld, the Austrian Charge d'Affaires, the Marquis Dalla Valle, the Italian Secretary, Count Von Beust, of the German Embassy, Mr. C. de Bildt, the Swedish Charge d'Affaires, the Hon. Arthur Cardegan and Count Fitz James.

Looking at the New Hampshire.

On Wednesday morning the President visited the United States training ship New Hampshire on invitation of Commander Clark. The President was taken on board at half past eleven, driving down to Ferry wharf with Miss French of New York. The party comprised the President, his son, Secretary Frelinghuysen, Governor and Mrs. E. D. Morgan, Jr., Mr. French, Jr. and Miss French. As the President came on board, he was welcomed with a salute of 21 guns, and soon after the President's flag was run up on the New Hampshire. The President and party made a thorough inspection of the old ship, looking at the various decks, and examining the training lads' mode of life.—The boys were drawn up on the main deck, [illegible] were looked at with interest by the visitors. After spending a pleasant hour aboard, the party returned to town, and another salute of 21 guns was fired as the President left the ship.

Again on the Polo Grounds.

Wednesday afternoon the President again visited the polo grounds. He occupied a seat on Augustus Whiting's four in hand, sitting next to Mr. Whiting, who handled the reins. Among the others on the coach were A. Thorndike Rice, editor of the North American Review, J. O. Green, Woodbury Kane, Mrs. F. R. Newbold, Miss Whiting, Mrs. E. D. Morgan, Jr. and Mrs. Whiting. The coach took a station near the upper goal, where the President was an interested spectator of the exciting sport for an hour.

The Amateur Theatricals.

Wednesday evening the President attended the private theatricals at the Casino theatre, given by the Bellevue Dramatic Club. The President arrived about half past nine with Gov. and Mrs. Morgan, C. Allen Arthur, E. D. Morgan, Jr., F. J. Phillips, the President's secretary, and Mr. Minette, Gov. Morgan's secretary. The farce of "My Uncle's Will" and the drama of "A Sheep in Wolf's Clothing" were excellently rendered, and the large audience thoroughly enjoyed the evening's entertainment. The theatricals were repeated Thursday evening.

A Trip to West Island.

On Thursday the Despatch carried President Arthur and party to West Island, where they were handsomely entertained by the West Island Fishing Club. The President in the morning sent his luggage aboard the steamer and bade formal farewell to his host and hostess, Governor and Mrs. E. D. Morgan. The day was pleasant and the sea calm, and a delightful day was spent at the island. The Despatch returned here about half past nine and anchored in the harbor. The guests included Secretary Frelinghuysen, Surrogate Rollins, John N. A. Griswold, Seth B. French, Chester A. Arthur, Jr., F. J. Phillips, Mrs. E. D. Morgan, Jr., Misses Frelinghuysen, Miss French, Mies Burrill, and Miss Breen. The party came ashore quite late, and the President and the other gentlemen saw the ladies home, the President returning to the Despatch at half past twelve.

During the evening Governor Littlefield, Senator Aldrich and Mayor Hayward, of Providence, visited the Despatch and arranged for the President's trip to Squantum and Providence.

Off for Providence.

Yesterday morning at eleven o'clock the Despatch left with the President, the gentlemen mentioned above, and others for Squantum, where an old-fashioned Rhode Island clambake was to be given by the Squantum Club. It was expected that the President would leave Squantum by train for Providence at 4 o'clock, and hold an informal reception at the City Hall from 4:30 to 5:30. The plan was to return in the Despatch last evening to this port and start this morning for Boston, spending a day at Nantucket.

The New Hampshire band gave an enjoyable concert on Touro Park Wednesday evening, the last regular concert of the season to be given by this excellent band.

The Queen's County Hunt are talking of rounding off the season with running races.

SUMMER SPORTS.

A Lively Run after the Hounds.

The meet of the Queen's County Hunt on Friday afternoon of last week was at the Glen. Thirty riders followed the hounds under the leadership of F. Gray Griswold. The run was fast, lasting 30 minutes and covering six miles. The country was pretty rough. Mrs. William Bassatt of London was thrown but was not hurt. Pierre Lorillard, Jr.'s horse was badly cut. Miss Lily Havemeyer rode straight to the death, which was on the Anthony farm near the West road, and was handed the brush for the second time this season. Pads were given to C. G. Peters and Master Foxhall Keene.

Polo before the President.

On Saturday afternoon an exciting polo match was played between the Westchester Polo Club team and the Meadow Brook Hunt team, in the first competition for the Narragansett cup. There was a great crush of carriages, fully 400 occupying all the available space, with six four in hands. President Arthur was present with Mrs. E. D. Morgan, Jr. The players were: Meadow Brook—August Belmont, Jr., captain, Frederic O. Beach, W. K. Thorn, Thomas Hitchcock; Westchesters—C. Oliver Iselin, Captain, Pierre Lorillard, Jr., John Sandford, Wm. C. Sandford. Meadow Brook won the first, fourth and fifth goals and the match. The Westchesters won the third goal by default, and there was some dissatisfaction among the Meadow Brook team, who claimed that the Westchester's "didn't play fair." Mr. Fairman Rogers was referee; F. R. Appleton, umpire for Meadow Brook and C. G. Peters for the Westchesters. This afternoon the Meadow Brooks will play the Warbaquassetts of Woodstock, Ct., in the final competition, and expect to white wash the "Nutmeggers."

The President Sees a Fox Hunt.

Monday afternoon the fox hunt was at One Mile Corner, and the attendance was very large. The run was fast, covering six miles in fifty minutes. A very picturesque country was traversed. The hounds ran across the valley, then doubled and passing by Easton's Pond, skirted Easton's Point. Next they struck north and went up the valley along Paradise road to a field near Coggeshall's slaughter house, where most appropriately the kill took place. Mrs. E. D. Morgan, Jr., was deservedly awarded the brush, as she rode splendidly over the stiff country. Pads were given to C. Allen Arthur, the President's son, who got a harmless tumble, to F. R. Appleton, and Middleton Burrill. Lloyd S. Bryce was thrown in taking a ditch, but though rendered unconscious for a few moments, he was not seriously hurt. The President viewed the start from a field near Major Bull's residence. The ride was one of the most exciting of the season.

Lively Challenge Polo.

Wm. C. and John Sandford challenged C. O. Iselin and P. Lorillard, Jr., the winners of the first contest for the pairs offered by the Westchester Polo Club, and the first games were played Monday. After fine play, each side scored two goals, and the half hour allowed for the play expired before the fifth goal was made. On Wednesday afternoon, the evenly matched pairs tried conclusions a second time, and with the same result. Each side scored three goals, and the referee called time while the players were struggling for the seventh goal. The play was the most reckless and brilliant of the season. The most exciting incident was the collision between Lorillard and William Sandford. They came together, and both with their ponies went to the ground. Lorillard was under both ponies, but very cleverly extricated himself, and both players remounted and resumed the dangerous sport. The pairs will make a third attempt to decide the contest this afternoon.

Wednesday's Regular Polo.

After the contest for pairs on Wednesday afternoon, eleven regular games were played very quickly and the polo[illegible] made a fine exhibition of Newport's favorite pastime. The sides were: Blues—C. O. Iselin, W. K. Thorn, William C. Sandford; Reds—Elliot Zborowski, N. Griswold Lorillard, James M. Waterbury, C. G. Peters. After the sixth game Peters and Iselin retired, Waterbury changed to the Blues and John Sandford joined the Reds. The goals resulted: Blues 7, Reds 4. There was a large attendance, the most prominent spectator being the President.

Organ Music.

There was a meeting of a few invited friends at the United Congregational church on Friday of last week, to listen to a special programme of organ music prepared by the organist, Mr. H. B. Wood. His playing has displayed marked improvement since his acceptance of the above position. It was shown to best advantage in the Prelude C minor by Whiting, and the Sortie in G by Lemmens, which was very finely rendered. He was assisted in Hesses' Fantasia, Op. 87, by Mr. F. W. Marshall of Newport, and the Aria, "He Shall Feed His Flock," from the "Messiah," was sung by Mrs. Read of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Training Fleet Matters.

The United States training ship Jamestown arrived on Saturday morning from Boston, in tow of the U. S. tug Leyden. The Leyden returned to Portsmouth, N. H., in the quick time of 22 hours. A dispatch says that the Jamestown has been ordered to prepare for a sea cruise, after which she will proceed to Hampton Roads. She will leave early next week for a cruise up the bay.

The new quartermaster at Fort Adams, James W. Scully, has entered upon his duties.

"Almost Home."

Almost home.
Thou, who lovest me,
Take me up to Thee.
Gladly I come,
In thy sight to live—
All my heart to give—
There in my home.

All of Thine—
Now in joy to meet
In that grand retreat.
Dear ones of mine,
Blessed welcomes there
In the Heavenly air—
All wholly Thine.

CITY BRIEFS.

Jottings of Newport and Newporters.

The last steamer for Newport leaves Providence at 4:30 in place of 5:30 P. M.

Henry B. King of Georgia has bought J. H. Rowley's thoroughbred horse Gimlet.

A very large excursion from Easton and Stoughton, Mass., visited Newport on Wednesday.

The mother of Sidney Woollett, the elocutionist, died a few days since in London of heart disease.

The school ship St. Mary's arrived on Thursday from New York, and anchored in the outer harbor.

Rev. Robert Collyer of New York City will preach at the Unitarian Channing church on Sunday morning next.

One hundred and thirty-two boys have been transferred from the training ship New Hampshire to the Jamestown.

J. C. Macy, Esq., of Des Moines, Iowa, son of Capt. S. W. Macy of this city, left Newport Thursday for the West.

Master Alphonse E. Cobb, U. S. N., has been ordered from the Boston navy yard to the New Hampshire at this port.

A slight fire on the roof of The Aquidneck, started probably from a workman's pipe, was put out without an alarm on Wednesday.

His Excellency Governor Littlefield returned to Providence on Monday, after a several days' sojourn at the Ocean House.

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Clark of this diocese will officiate at All Saints chapel to-morrow; services at 11 A. M., and 4 in place of 5 P. M.

Frank B. Porter & Co. have sold for Jas. J. Van Alen his cottage on Ayrault-st to Mrs. M. A. Crate of New York on private terms.

F. B. Porter & Co. have sold the estate of the late Henry Morris on Washington-st to Mrs. J. S. Brownson of Elizabeth, N. J., on private terms.

Master Charles P. Scott is to preside at the organ of the Second Baptist church during this month; the regular organist being away on a vacation.

After to-day the steamer Eolus will make but four trips to Wickford, the 3:30 P. M. trip from this city and return arriving here at 10:55, being discontinued.

Capt. H. C. Hasbrouck of the 4th U. S. Artillery, in command of Fort Adams, has been appointed to command the corps of cadets at West Point.

The Queens County Hunt end off the hunting season on Rhode Island by giving the farmers a clambake at Southwick's Grove next Tuesday evening.

J. Neilson Howard & Co. have sold for Mrs. M. G. Wilson her one half interest in a lot on the east side of Sunnyside-court to Samuel Coleman of New York.

Rocky Point closes to-day after a very successful season. Next week the steamers of the Continental Line will leave Newport for Providence at 7 and 11 A. M., 1 and 4:30 P. M.

A five hundred dollar diamond horse-shoe pin belonging to Mrs. Gordon Prince of Boston, which she lost at the Casino theatre on Monday evening, was fortunately found and returned to her.

The M. J. Handy lot at the corner of Howard-ave and Kay-st, and containing 16,500 square feet, was sold on Monday at foreclosure sale by A. P. Baker, auctioneer, to Wm. M. Austin, for $2450.

Bishop D. A. Payne, D. D., preached an eloquent and thoughtful sermon at Touro chapel on Sunday last. At Trinity church the pastor, Rev. George J. Magill, delivered a strong discourse in support of a strictly religious observance of the Sabbath.

Samuel H. Oxx, of this city, set a hen on twelve eggs, and eight days before the time when they should have hatched the hen died. The eggs were taken from under her, wrapped in cotton, put in a warm place and nine fine chickens rewarded Mr. Oxx, for his experiment.

Mrs. Sarah Lawis, grandmother of George F. and William E. Crandall of this city, died a few days since at the extreme old age of 99 years and 6 months, at North Stonington, Ct., where all her life was spent. She retained her faculties most remarkably almost to the time of her death.

At Paradise Range on Wednesday afternoon occurred the first competition for the team of four to represent the Newport Rifle Association at Creedmoor. The following scores were made at 200 yards: W. M. Farrow, 47; W. B. Knight, 46; P. Peckham, 43; J. H. Wetherell, 42; W. S. Bryer, 42; E. E. Leonard, 41; W. Charles, 35.

A very enjoyable entertainment was given at the reading room of St. John's chapel on Poplar-st Wednesday evening. The programme included readings, recitations, and vocal and instrumental music. Mrs. John Jacob Astor and other cottagers were present. Mrs. Astor contributed a piano solo. Refreshments were served after the literary exercises.

NEWPORT OPERA HOUSE.

The New East Lynne.

Henrietta Chanfrau, the eminent emotional actress, will appear in this thrilling drama on Monday evening. The play is written by Clifton W. Tayleure, the original author of the original "East Lynne", and he makes his first appearance on any stage in his own play, sustaining the part of "Archibald Carlyle". The drama merits a generous patronage.

Baird's Mammoth Minstrels.

Baird's Mammoth Minstrels appear on Wednesday evening, Sept. 6, under the management of J. J. Flood of this city. The company include Billy McAllister, Ned West, Billy Conway, Johnnie Mack, Ripley and Reede, Will Clark, Joe Kennedy, Ace Leroy, Chas. H. Bortell, Will Smith, Albert Wensley, J. S. McMurray, the London Handbell Ringers, J. H. Tenor, the Whipsler Twin Brothers, Prince Pharaoh, George Wright, the Snow Brothers, Matt Elder, Chas. A. Lilley, Henry Galvin, Cox and Reybold, E. B. Holmes, Chris Wingert, H. J. Graham, Dave Lee, with I. W. Baird, manager; A. M. Baird, treasurer; R. H. Brock, C. A. Potter and Joseph Elmore in advance. Among the leading features is the London Hand Bell Ringers.

Poetry.

Illinois.

BY JOAQUIN MILLER.

A pistol shot next my own garret nest,
And with face like a god he lies dead and alone;
Lies stark on his back; a hand outthrown,
As disdaining rest, on the vanquished breast,
And a look of death in his glorious eyes
As one struck dead by a cannon-shot. . . .
Starved or dishonored? It matters not;
Nor whether betrayed or otherwise.
I only know that he fell last night;
I only know that he fights no more;
I only know that he fell in the fight,
Fighting as never fought man before.

Shot dead in the fight! Not a syllable known
Of name or of place. But scratched on the wall
With a nail "Illinois"—and that is all.
Then deep in the window stands all alone
And tattered and torn, like a flag in war,
One starved stalk of corn in a broken jar.
A banner of corn, with its memories
Of mother, of fields, and of fruitful trees!
O boy from the furrows of Illinois!
O boy with thy banner to the topmost wall,
I will nourish this corn poor, pitiful boy,
Till I, too, vanished, shall fighting fall.

Good mother, that waits in the far corn-fields,
He will never come back to your arms any more,
Grow lilies for him; his battles are o'er.
He is borne to his rest on his battle-shield.
Good mothers that wait, wherever you are,
Oh! pity us, pray for us every one
That has left sweet fields for the smoke and dun
Of the city's walls in this ceaseless war.
How oft we have cried: O Christ for the fight,
When soldiers in battle rode recklessly down
And stormed in a day and took the town,
Or, sword in hand, they were slain outright!

O you in the beautiful fields of corn,
Content and tranquil and far away,
Lift up your hearts and be glad all day;
Lift up moist eyes like the dew of morn;
For I tell you 'tis harder to win a town
And to hold it for even a year your own
Than ever were gates when kings went down
With army and banners to win a throne.
Then a tear for the soldier who fell last night,
With banner of corn in a breach of the wall;
For to every hundred that win this fight
I tell you a hundred thousand fall.

Let him not boast who puts his armor on
As he who puts it off, the battle done.
Study yourself; and most of all, note well
Wherein kind Nature meant you to excel.
Not every blossom ripens into fruit;
Minerva, the inventress of the flute,
Flung it aside when she her face surveyed,
Distorted in a fountain as she played;
The unlucky Marsyas found it, and his fate
Was one to make the bravest hesitate.

Selected Tale.

THE MECHANIC'S HOME.

BY AN EX-EDITOR.

One evening, in the early part of the winter, the door-bell rang with energy, and the servant announced a man who wished to see me. A "man" is one thing with a servant, a "gentleman" another, and a "person" something different from either. The man stood in the hall, but I wondered why he had not been called a gentleman. I was puzzled where to place him myself. His dress was very neat, but plain and rather coarse. His linen, that badge of refinement, was white, in perfect order, and almost elegant. Everything about him seemed substantial; but nothing gave a clue to his position in life. In all outward seeming he was simply a man. When he spoke to me, his address was simple, clear, direct, and with a certain air of self-reliance,—the farthest possible from a vulgar bustler.

"Doctor," he said, "I wish you to come and see my child. We fear he is threatened with croup."

I put on my hat and prepared to accompany him; for if the case were as he supposed, there was no time to lose. In this disease a single hour may make a life's difference.

In a moment we were in the street and walking briskly up one of our broad avenues. The child, he said, had been playing out of doors, had eaten heartily at supper, gone to sleep, and waked up since very hoarse, with a croaking cough. The case was a pretty clear one, and I hurried my walk still more, and in a few moments we were at the door. We went up, up, up, to the fourth story. The last flight of stairs were carpeted, and a small lamp at the top lighted us up. An excellent and very durable kind of mat lay at the door. You will see, in time, why I give these little particulars.

I entered the open door, and was welcomed by a rather pretty and remarkably tidy woman, who could have been nobody in the world but the wife of the man who had summoned me.

"I am glad you have come so soon," she said, in a soft, pure accent. "Little William seems so distressed that he can hardly breathe," and the next moment, as we passed through a narrow passage where he lay, I heard the unmistakable croupy sound, that justly carried such terror to the parent's heart.

"Is it the croup, doctor?" asked the father, with a voice of emotion, as I bent over the child—a fine boy, three years of age.

"It is certainly the croup, and a pretty violent attack. How long is it since you thought him sick?"

"Not above an hour," was the calm reply. It was made calm by a firm self-control. I looked at the mother. She was very pale, but did not trust herself to speak.

"Then there is probably but little danger," I said; "but we have something to do. Have you the water here?"

The husband went to what seemed a closet, opened two doors, and disclosed a neat pine bathing tub supplied with the Croton. This was beyond my hopes, but I had no time to wonder. The little fellow was in a high fever and laboring for every breath. Taking him from his little crib, where he lay on a nice hair mattress, fit for a prince to sleep on, I took off his clean night-clothes, stood him in the bath-tub and made his father pour full upon his neck and chest three pails of cold water, while I rubbed them briskly with my hand. He was then wiped dry and rubbed until his whole body was glowing like a flame. Then I wrung a large towel out of cold water and put it round his throat, and then wrapped him up in blankets. The brave little fellow had borne it all without complaint, as if he understood that under his father's eye no harm could could come to him. In fifteen minutes after he was wrapped in the blankets he was in a profuse perspiration, in a sound slumber, breathing freely. The danger was over—so rapid is this disease, and so easily cured.

Happiness had shed a serene light upon the countenance of the father, and thrown over the mother's face a glow of beauty. I looked upon them, and was more than ever puzzled where to place them. There were no marks of high birth or superior breeding; not the shadow of decayed gentility about them. It was rather the reverse as if they were working up from a low rank of life to a higher.

I looked around the room. It was the bed-room. Everything in it was perfectly orderly. The bed, like the crib, was excellent, but not costly. The white counterpane did not cost more than ten shillings—yet how beautiful it looked! The white window curtains were shilling muslin, but their folds hung as richly as if they were damask—and how very appropriate they seemed! The bath, with its snug folding-doors, I knew had not cost, plumber's bill and all, more than ten dollars. The toilet-table, of an elegant form, and completely covered, I had no doubt was white pine, and cost half a dollar. The pictures on the wall were beautifully-tinted lithographs—better, far better, than oil-paintings, I have seen in the houses of millionaires; yet they can be bought at Goupils or Williams & Stephens, for three to five shillings,—and a dollar apiece had framed them. The floor had a carpet that seemed to match everything, with its small, neat figure, and light chamber-color. It was a jewel of a room, in as perfect keeping in all its parts as if an artist had designed it.

Leaving the little boy to his untroubled sleep, and giving directions for his bath, on his waking, we went into the other room, which was differently but just as neatly arranged. It might have answered for a parlor, only it had a cooking-stove, or an artist's studio, or a dining-room. It was hung with pictures — heads, historical pieces, and landscapes: all such as a man of taste could select and buy cheap, but which, are like good books, are invaluable. And speaking of books there was a hanging library at one side of the chimney, which a single glance assured me contained the very choicest treasures of the English tongue.

The man went to a bureau, opened a drawer, and took out some money. "What is your fee, doctor?" he asked, holding the bills so as to select one to pay me.

Now I had made up my mind before I had got half way up the stairs, that I might have to wait for my pay—perhaps never get it; but all this had changed. I could not, as I often do, inquire into the circumstances of the man, and graduate my price accordingly. There he stood, ready to pay me, with money enough; yet it was evident that he was a working man, and far from wealthy. I had nothing left but to name the lowest fee.

"One dollar does not seem enough," said he. "You have been at more trouble than to merely write a prescription."

"Do you work for a living?"—I asked, hoping to solve the mystery.

He smiled and held out his hand, which showed the unquestionable marks of honest toil.

"Take that," he said, placing a two dollar note in my hand, with a not-to-be-refused air, "and I will gratify your curiosity:—for there is no use in pretending that you are not a little curious."

There was a hearty respected freedom about this that was irresistible. I put the note in my pocket; and the man going to a door opened it into a closet of moderate size and displayed the bench and tools of a shoemaker.

"You must be an extraordinary workman," said I, looking around the room, which seemed almost luxurious; but when I looked at each item I found that it cost very little.

"No, nothing extra. I barely manage to earn a little over a dollar a day. Mary helps some. With the house work to do—and our boy to look after, she earns enough to make our wages average eight dollars a week. We began with nothing—we live as you see."

All this comfort, this respectability, this almost luxury, for eight dollars a week! I expressed my surprise.

"I should be very sorry if we spent so much," said he. "We have not only managed to live on that, but we have something laid up in the savings bank."

"Will you have the goodness," said I, "just to explain to me how you do it?" for I was really anxious to know how a shoemaker and his wife, earning but eight dollars a week, could live in comfort and elegance, and lay up money.

"With pleasure," he replied; "for you may persuade others, no better off than I am, to make the best of their situation."

I took a chair, which he handed me. We were seated, and his wife, after going to listen a moment to the measured breathing of little Willie, sat down to her sewing.

"My name," he said, "is William Carter. My father died when I was young, and I was bound out as an apprentice to a shoemaker, with the usual provision of schooling. I did as well as Boys do generally at school; and as I was very fond of reading, I made the most of my spare time and the advantages of the Apprentices Library. Probably the books that helped me most were the sensible writings of William Cobbett. Following his example, I determined to give myself a useful education, and I have to some extent succeeded. But a man's education is a life long process; and the more I learn the more I see before me."

"I was hardly out of my time when I fell in love with Mary there, whom some people think very pretty, but whom I know to be very good."

Mary looked up with such a bright loving smile, as to fully justify some people in their notion.

"When I had been one year a journeyman and had laid up a few dollars (for I had a strong motive to be saving), we were married. I boarded at her father's, and she bound shoes for the shop where I worked. We lived a few weeks at her home; but it was not our home—the home we wanted; so we determined to set up housekeeping. It was rather a small set up, but we made it answer. I spent a week in house-hunting. Some were too dear, some shabby. At last I found this place. It was new and clean, high and airy, and I thought it would do. I got it for fifty dollars a year—and though the rents all around have advanced, our landlord is satisfied with that, or takes it in preference of risking a worse tenant. The place was naked enough, and we had little to put in it save ourselves; but we went cheerfully to work, earned all we could—saved all we could—and you see the result."

"I see; but I confess I do not understand it," willing to hear him explain the economies of this modest home.

"Well, it is simple enough. When Mary and I moved ourselves here and took possession, with a table, two chairs, a cooking stove, a sauce-pan or two, and a cot-bed with straw mattress, the first thing we did was to hold a council-of-war. "Now Mary, my love," said I, "here we are—we have next to nothing, and we have everything to get, and nobody but ourselves to help ourselves.

"We found that we could earn, on an average, eight dollars a week; we determined to live as cheaply as possibly, save all we could and make ourselves a home. Our rent was a dollar a week—our fuel, light, water, rent, and some little matters, a dollar more. We have allowed the same amount for our clothing, and by buying the best things, and keeping them carefully, we dress well enough for that. Even my wife is satisfied with her wardrobe, and finds that raw silk at six shillings a yard is cheaper in the long run than calico at one shilling. That makes just three dollars a week, and we have still our living to pay for. That costs us, with three in our family, just one dollar a week more."

"One dollar apiece?"

"No—one dollar for all. You seem surprised; but we have reckoned it over and over."

"It cost more at first, but now we have learned to live both better and cheaper—so that we have a clear surplus of four dollars a week, after paying all expenses of rent, fire, light, water, clothing, and food. I do not count our luxuries, such as an evening at the theatre, a concert or a treat to our friends when we give a party."

I know a smile came over my face, for he continued:—

"Yes, give a party; and we have some pleasant ones, I assure you. Sometimes we have a dozen guests, which is quite enough for comfort, and our treat of chocolate cakes, blanc mange, &c., costs as much as two dollars; but this is not very often. Out of our surplus—which comes, you see, to two hundred dollars a year—we have bought all you see, and have money in the bank."

"I see it all," said I—"all but the living. Many a mechanic spends more than that for cigars, to say nothing for liquor. Pray tell me precisely how you live."

"With pleasure. First of all then I smoke no cigars, and chew no tobacco, and Mary takes no snuff."

Here the pleasant smile came in, but there was no interruption, for Mary seemed to think her husband knew what he was about, and could talk very well without her aid.

"I have not drank a glass of liquor since the day I was married except a glass of wine about four times a year, on Christmas, New Year's, Fourth of July, and Willie's birthday. The last is our especial holiday. I had read enough physiology to make up my mind that tea and coffee contained no nutriment, and were poisonous besides; and I tried a vegetable diet long enough to like it better than a mixed one,—and to find that it agreed with me better; and as we have read and experimented together, of course Mary thinks as I do."

"But what do you eat and drink?" I asked, curious to see how far this self-taught philosopher had progressed in the laws of health.

"Come this way, and I will show you," he said, taking the light and leading the way into a capacious storeroom. "Here, first of all, is a mill, which cost twelve shillings.—It grinds all my grain, gives me the freshest and most beautiful meal, and saves tolls and profits. This is a barrel of wheat. I buy the best and am sure that it is clean and good. It costs less than three cents a pound and a pound of wheat a day, you know, is good enough for any man. We make it into bread, mush pies and cakes. Here is a barrel of potatoes. This is hominy. Here are some beans, a box of rice, tapioca, macaroni. Here is a barrel of apples, the best I can find in Fulton market. Here is a box of sugar, and this is our butter jar.—We take a quart of country milk a day—I buy the rest of our living by the box or barrel, where I can get it best and cheapest.—Making wheat—eaten as mush or bread, and all made without boiling—and potatoes or hominy, or rice, the staple, you can easily see that a dollar a week for provisions is not only ample, but allows of a healthly and luxurious variety. For the rest we eat greens, vegetables, fruit and berries in their season. In the summer we have strawberries, and peaches as soon as they are ripe and good. Mary will get up a dinner from these materials at the cost of a shilling, better than the whole bill-of fare at the Astor.

I was satisfied. Here was comfort, intelligence, taste and a modest luxury, all enjoyed by a humble mechanic who knew how to live at the cost I have mentioned. How much useless complaining might be saved—how much genuine happiness enjoyed—how much of evil and suffering might be prevented if all the workingmen in New York were as wise as William Carter!

I never shook a man or woman by the hand with more hearty respect than when I said "Good night" to this happy couple, who, in this expensive city, are living in luxury, and growing rich on eight dollars a week, and making the bench of a shoemaker a chair of practical philosophy.

Reader, if you are inclined to profit by this little narrative, I need not write out any other moral than the injunction of Scripture, "Go and do likewise."

Co-Education.

MRS. LIVERMORE'S IMPRESSIONS OF THE FRIENDS' BOARDING SCHOOL.

While New England conservatories have been debating the question of "co-education," regarding it generally with holy horror as an ingenious device of the strong minded to "lower the standard of man's scholarship"—since "women cannot keep pace with men in intellectual effort"—the Friends have been practicing it successfully at Providence, R. I., for nearly three-quarters of a century. "How can moral training be given in schools?" is one of the questions of the day. Those quiet Friends answer it by sending out hosts of young men and women from their schools, so trained that temptation does not tempt them, and they not only hold fast their integrity in mature life, but become mighty workers for the uplifting of the race. "Can industrial education be engrafted on our school systems?" The Friends take no part in the debate, but hold on their way, and year after year graduate one to teach, another to the counting room as bookkeeper, another to perfect himself in wood-carving, another to college, another to study medicine, and so on.

No more beautiful location could be desired than that occupied by the "Friends' boarding school" of Providence, R. I. It crowns the deep ascent, on the sides of which a part of the city reposes, terrace above terrace, built over with comfortable homes, that look out from the dense foliage of trees and shrubberies.

On the very crest of this hill stand the school buildings—an irregular but imposing pile. All are lighted by gas, heated by air and steam, abundantly supplied on every floor with pure water, hot and cold, and the most approved scientific methods have made the ventilation and drainage as nearly perfect as possible. An inclosed park of 30 acres surrounds the buildings. A well kept lawn sweeps down from the main hall, brightened everywhere with parterres of flowers, and groves of stately trees, sturdy with the growth of a century, are at the service of the students for out-door recreation. That in front is claimed by the girls, and is furnished with seats, hammocks and appliances for games. The boys appropriate the grove in the rear, which is provided with gymnastic apparatus. Their well-used base ball ground is adjacent, and in winter they have a marsh flooded for a skating park.

Nothing is left undone to render the school and its surroundings favorable to health. For it is a cardinal maxim of the institution that "physical development should go hand in hand with intellectual culture." The school farm supplies the large family with fresh vegetables and fruit, and give pasturage to 12 or 15 cows. Milk for table use is so abundant that the unvitiated tastes of the students regard tea and coffee with great disfavor. All the table supplies are of the best, and great attention is paid to hygiene and sanitary regulations—to matters of rising and retiring, bathing, suitable clothing and out-door sports and exercise. The girls have a gymnasium as well as the boys, and an inclosed skating rink, where they may exercise on rollers in stormy weather. Although an infirmary is connected with each wing of the school, with a trained nurse in constant attendance, it is rarely occupied, for the good health of the school is proverbial.

No less care is given to thorough and systematic instruction. The literary and scientific courses are unusually practical, and educate for the higher walks of business and social life. In the classical departments students are fitted to enter creditably any American college. Six students were fitted for college last year. A commercial department, open to both sexes, gives a thorough practical business education; the department of natural science is well equipped with extensive and valuable apparatus, and classes in botany, geology and surveying are regularly formed for field work. The astronomical observatory is the highest in Rhode Island, and is furnished with an achromatic telescope, equatorially mounted, with a 4½ inch object glass, transit instruments, and an astronomical clock. They are superior instruments, and are in constant use for class and general instruction.

Classes in French and German are formed yearly, and in the art department instruction is given in drawing, painting in oil and water colors and wood carving. Although a Friends' school, instrumental music is taught, and at the time of my visit, a few weeks since, there were five pianos in hourly use for practice. The school owns a very fine cabinet of minerals and a library of 6000 volumes, 2000 of them new books of great value, recently added.

The faculty comprises 15 professors, all of them experienced and able men and women, most of them specialists. At their head is Augustine Jones, A. M., a scholarly gentleman, with large administrative ability. Educated for the law, he was for years a member of the General Court of Massachusetts, and has had large experience in life. Lectures are given every term by persons eminent in some department. The late Prof. Diman of Brown University lectured regularly on "History" for 15 years, and an instructor in the Rhode Island Normal School lectures weekly to a class of students who design to teach. The public hall of the institution is modern, adapted to its use, handsomely fitted, and in the evening brilliantly lighted.

But no feature of this Friends' school interested me so much as its completely successful experiment of co-education, tried for 63 years. Mr. Jones and his corps of professors, with the Society of Friends, believe co-education to be essential to the training of noble men and women. Education, they say, comprises all the influences that go to form character. It is not merely intellectual, but moral and social, and should teach individual responsibility and vigorous obedience to personal convictions of right and duty. Tuition can best be done in the home, or in a school which combines the family and parental relation, and where the regime is like that of a well-ordered home. The doctrine of the equality of the sexes, which is a marked characteristic of the creed of the Friends is here practically lived out. The girl is the peer of the boy, with equal rights and privileges. Not a shade of masculine assumption ever asserts itself in this institution. They are superior, without regard to sex, who are best in scholarship and noblest in moral qualities.

The dormitories of the two sexes are in opposite wings of the building. The young people study apart, but recite together. They sit at the same table in the dining hall, a teacher presiding at each table. They meet in chapel and in the public hall for religious and social purposes, always with members of the faculty present. In short, their relation to each other is that of the family. Each is able to judge of the other's manners at table and in the parlor, where coarseness or silliness is easily detected, and frowned upon—And, if a boy or a girl proves a shirk or a dunce at recitation, no amount of personal beauty or fine veneer of manners offsets it. Their regular daily intercourse is so thoroughly matter-of-fact, the aims for which they are associated are so lofty, so little time or opportunity is left for dawdling, that the young people seem free from the weak sentimentalisms that attain such dangerous growth where boys and girls are trained in monastic and conventional seclusion. The surest way to keep a field free from noxious weeds is to sow it well to grain and carefully cultivate it. And in the 63 years that boys and girls have been educated into manhood and womanhood in this school not a breath of scandal has been uttered concerning it.

Much of the refinement of manner and nobleness of aim which so deeply impresses you in a visit to the Friends' school, is due to the rare qualities of the teachers. They are themselves loyal to right and duty—are moved by the highest moral considerations—and possess that indescribable charm which comes from native worth, gentle breeding and culture. They radiate a fine moral influence as the sun does light, and the young people in their care are unconsciously formed and moulded by it. For example educates more than precept, and finer moral results are achieved by guiding and training than by legislating.

Although the Society of Friends owns this school it is wholly unsectarian. An unusually religious atmosphere pervades it, while nothing is ever said concerning dogma, and it stands for whatever is good, no matter what may be its origin. Not more than half its 250 students are the children of Friends. A Boston lady—not a Friend—recently visiting the school, was so favorably impressed with its excellent methods that she gave it $30,000, the interest of which is to be spent in educating youth of promise lacking means of education.

The Friends are indebted to Moses Brown—and, later, to his son—for their invaluable school property. He it was who introduced the Arkwright cotton machinery into this country, and his factory in Providence was the first to weave an all-cotton fabric. He was also a founder of Brown University, which bears to-day his name. Far-seeing and generous, an earnest advocate of free public schools, with unusual moral, spiritual and intellectual development, as his writings show, he reached down the centuries, and gave to thousands, then unborn, opportunities to develop into the noble citizenship which he craved for every child of the country. Well may the Friends hold his name in honored remembrance!

NATURE'S REMEDY.
VEGETINE
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

PAIN AND DISEASE.—Can we expect to enjoy good health when bad or corrupt humors circulate with the blood, causing pain and disease, and these humors, being deposited through the entire body, produce pimples, eruptions, ulcers, indigestion, costiveness, headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, and numerous other complaints? Remove the cause by taking VEGETINE, the most reliable for cleansing and purifying the blood.

Vegetine is sold by all Druggists.

Hop Bitters are the Purest and Best Bitters Ever Made.

They are compounded from Hops, Malt, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion,—the oldest, best, and most valuable medicines in the world and contain all the best and most curative properties of all other remedies, being the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agents on earth. No disease or ill health can possibly long exist where these Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm. To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Apolizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, being highly curative, tonic and stimulating, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are, what the disease or ailment is, use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserable, use Hop Bitters at once. It may save your life. Hundreds have been saved by so doing. $500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help.

Do not suffer or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop Bitters.

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged, drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "Invalid's Friend and Hope," and no person or family should be without them. Try the Bitters to-day.

Legal Notices.

Administrator's Sale of Real Estate.

BY authority of a decree of the Honorable Court of Probate of the town of Jamestown in the State of Rhode Island, &c., made and passed on the 14th day of August, A. D. 1882, I will sell at public auction on the premises, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, September 20th, 1882, all the right, title and interest which William G. Carr, late of said Jamestown, had at the time of his death in and to three certain lots of land, situated in that part of said Jamestown known as Conanicut Park, and numbered respectively 138, 140 and 141 on a plat of said Conanicut Park, drawn by John B. Mullin, and on file with the land evidence of said town, said lots numbered 140 and 141 having a cottage house thereon. Said lots 140 and 141 will first be sold and together, and then said lot 139.

Also at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said 20th day of September, and by virtue of the same decree, I will sell at public auction on the premises, all of the right, title and interest which said William G. Carr had at the time of his death in and to that certain tract of land, situate in said Jamestown and known as the Fowler farm, and bounded and described as follows: northerly, by the public highway running east from the Main Road, so-called, to the shore; easterly, on the waters of Narragansett Bay; southerly, partly by land of the heirs of devisees of John G. Dockray, deceased, and partly by land of the heirs of William G. Carr, junior, deceased; and westerly, on said Main Road, or however otherwise bounded and described, and containing about sixty acres.

For Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhœa, Jaundice, Impurity of the Blood, Fever and Ague, Malaria, and all Diseases caused by Derangement of Liver, Bowels and Kidneys.

SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED LIVER.

Bad Breath; Pain in the Side, sometimes the pain is felt under the Shoulder-blade, mistaken for Rheumatism; general loss of appetite; Bowels generally costive, sometimes alternating with lax; the head is troubled with pain, is dull and heavy, with considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of leaving undone something which ought to have been done; a slight, dry cough and flushed face is sometimes an attendant, often mistaken for consumption; the patient complains of weariness and debility; nervous, easily startled; feet cold or burning, sometimes a prickly sensation of the skin exists; spirits are low and despondent, and, although satisfied that exercise would be beneficial, yet one can hardly summon up fortitude to try it—in fact, distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred when but few of them existed, yet examination after death has shown the Liver to have been extensively deranged.

It should be used by all persons, old and young, whenever any of the above symptoms appear.

Persons Traveling or Living in Unhealthy Localities, by taking a dose occasionally to keep the Liver in healthy action, will avoid all Malaria, Bilious attacks, Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Depression of Spirits, etc. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage.

If You have eaten anything hard of digestion, or feel heavy after meals, or sleepless at night, take a dose and you will be relieved.

Time and Doctors' Bills will be saved by always keeping the Regulator in the House!

For, whatever the ailment may be, a thoroughly safe purgative, alterative and tonic can never be out of place. The remedy is harmless and does not interfere with business or pleasure.

IT IS PURELY VEGETABLE,

And has all the power and efficacy of Calomel or Quinine, without any of the injurious after effects.

A Governor's Testimony.

Simmons Liver Regulator has been in use in my family for some time, and I am satisfied it is a valuable addition to the medical science.

J. GILL SHORTER, Governor of Ala.

Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, of Ga., says: Have derived some benefit from the use of Simmons Liver Regulator, and wish to give it a further trial.

"The only Thing that never fails to Relieve."—I have used many remedies for Dyspepsia, Liver Affection and Debility, but never have found anything to benefit me to the extent Simmons Liver Regulator has. I sent from Minnesota to Georgia for it, and would send further for such a medicine, and would advise all who are similarly affected to give it a trial as it seems the only thing that never fails to relieve.

P. M. JANNEY, Minneapolis, Minn.

Dr. T. W. Mason says: From actual experience in the use of Simmons Liver Regulator in my practice I have been and am satisfied to use and prescribe it as a purgative medicine.

Sunday School Lesson—September 3.

LOVE TO GOD AND MEN.

Mark 12:28—44.

Notes and Hints.

"Connecting Link."—The incidents of this lesson followed immediately after those of the last lesson. "The sectarian feeling of the Pharisees was gratified to see the Sadducees worsted in the argument on the resurrection. The brilliant answer of Jesus to them suggests to a scribe to ask his opinion on one more disputed point."—Peloubet.

Parallel passages, Matt. 22:34—46; Luke 20:39—47, 21:1—4.

I. The first and second things. After the Pharisees, Herodians and Sadducees had tried to catch our Saviour in his words, or to ask a question too hard for him to answer, and had signally failed in their plans, one of the scribes came, perhaps thinking that all the others were stupid bunglers, and tried his skill at questioning Jesus Christ. The scribe's question was this, "Which is the first commandment of all?" He probably expected that Jesus would mention some precept of the decalogue as superior to all others in importance, but the essence of the divine law consists not in deeds, but in the state of the heart of the doer, in an affection of the soul, and that affection is the noblest of all its emotions. "Love is the tenderest, the most unselfish, the most divine of all affections."

II. Near to the kingdom of God. When the scribe heard the answer of Jesus, so full of the highest wisdom and piety, he at once expressed the heartiest approval of it, gave a cordial assent to his assertion that, "There is none other commandment greater than these," and added of his own accord that to do these things, "is more than all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices."

When Jesus heard his remark, he said unto him, "Thou art not far from the kingdom of God." He knew in what the essence of true religion consists.

III. Acceptable offerings. During his visit to the temple, Jesus sat, for a while, over against the large chests, conveniently placed near the entrances, into which the people cast their offerings of money for the support of the temple worship, and other religious purposes. On the top of these chests were large bell-shaped receivers of metal into which the money was dropped and through which it fell down into the chests below. Many, no doubt, were fond of casting in large sums, on public occasions, that they might be seen of men and have praise of them on account of their generosity. Jesus saw the motives by which those who gave were influenced, and when the poor widow, who had but two mites in the world, gave all that she had, he saw, at once, that she had given more than they all. The divine rule is, "according to what a man hath, and not according to what he hath not." Love in the heart, which prompts one to do what he can, sanctifies the gift and makes it acceptable to God.

THOUGHTS AND APPLICATIONS.

I. Love is the essence of religion.

II. God never estimates prayers by their length, nor gifts by the noise they make.

TOPICS FOR FURTHER STUDY.

I. The relation of love to practical duty.

II. The customs of the Pharisees.

Selections for Sabbath Meditation.

Whatever it be that keeps the finer faculties of the mind awake, wonder alive, and the interest above mere eating and drinking, money making and money saving; whatever it be that gives gladness, or sorrow, or hope,—this, be it violin, pencil, pen, or highest of all, the love of woman, is simply a divine gift of holy influence for the salvation of that being to whom it comes, for the lifting of him out of the mire and up on the rock. For, it keeps a way open for the entrance of deeper, holier, grander influences, emanating from the same riches of the Godhead. And though many have genius that have no grace, they will only be so much the worse, so much nearer to the brute, if you take from them that which corresponds to Dooble Sandy's fiddle.—Geo. Macdonald.

Starry hosts of God's realized promises shine out in the great firmament of the Word. Some are fast grouping themselves into constellations of "the glory that excelleth." Here and there, where I saw only a cloud, I find now a grand, sublime nebula only waiting for higher faith-power to be resolved into, not stars merely, but suns. And the Lord has brought me forth, like Abraham of old, and said, "Look now toward heaven, and tell the stars!"—F. R. Havergal.

Development in our life on earth is limited, as is the development of the bird in the egg. The bursting of the egg-shell is no disaster, but a relief and a profit. That breaking of the shell brings the bird into a world that is unspeakably most glorious. Death is our servant, not our master—through Christ an immeasurable blessing.

If you tell your troubles to God, you put them into the grave; they will never rise again when you have committed them to him. If you roll your burden anywhere else, it will roll back again like the stone of Sisyphus.—Spurgeon.

Everybody knows that fanaticism is religion caricatured; bears indeed about the same relation to it that a monkey bears to a man; yet, with many, contempt of fanaticism is received as a sure sign of hostility to religion.—Whipple.

VERSES FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

My baby boy sat on the floor,
His big blue eyes were full of wonder,
For he had never seen before
That baby in the mirror door—
What kept the two, so near, asunder?

He leaned toward the golden head
The mirror border framed within,
Until twin cheeks, like roses red,
Lay side by side, then softly said:
"I can't get out, can you come in?"

A fresh little half open rose,
Quite lovely, as every one knows,
Exclaimed—"I do bat see
How the sun stares at me!
'Tis that makes me blush, I suppose."

His Answers.

Learning simply by rote, and memorizing sounds and names, has its defects and disadvantages, as most teachers can testify. Some of its defects are well illustrated in the Pennsylvania School Journal, in answers given by scholars. A pupil was noticed examining his map very carefully.

His teacher asked him what he was searching for. He said "for jeopardy."

"But jeopardy is not a place."

"Yes it is," said the pupil, "for I read in the papers this morning that a captain of an ocean steamer had telegraph

SATU... SEPTEMBER 2, 1882.

The Michigan Democrats and Greenbackers have united on a fusion ticket, but the Republicans of that State are not terrified thereby.

Senator Pendleton thinks it is about as profitable to guess what the weather will be in 1884 as to prophesy what the political issues will then be.

The number of immigrants who arrived in this country in July was 65,-010. In the same time, 3827 American citizens returned from abroad and 1862 aliens arrived to visit this country.

A report has it that Gen. W. T. Sherman will ask to be placed on the retired list of the army in November, 1883, or one year prior to the time he would have been retired under the army compulsory act. He will live in St. Louis.

Fighting has been begun in Egypt in earnest. Arabi has been defeated in two pitched battles by the English, and General Wolseley is advancing steadily towards Arabi's strongest position. The English are evidently determined to put an end to the war by crushing the insurgents. In one engagement Arabi's loss was over 400 killed.

Senator Harris, of Tennessee, thinks that the tariff will be the most important issue in the next Presidential campaign. The Democratic plank on the subject in 1880 was too vague, he says. Had he written the clause he would have made it read: "A tariff for revenue." He believes that the Democrats will make a square fight on the question in 1884.

Investigating the Fish.

The national Senate committee on the Foreign Relations some time since appointde a sub-committee of five, to investigate the fisheries, to ascertain what legislation, if any, is needed to protect the food fisheries of the country. The general committee has held sessions in Washington, and the question of prohibiting the menhaden fishery was the subject of a great deal of discussion. A vast number of petitions were received asking the passage of a law prohibiting the taking of this fish within two miles of the shore, and Senator Jewell introduced a bill to that effect. Hearings on both sides of the question were given before the committee, and so much was said on both sides that the difficulty was settled by the appointment of the special committee to make an investigation. Most prominent among the defenders of the menhaden fishery, which is so important an industry in this part of Rhode Island, was Mr. Daniel T. Church of Tiverton, whose information on the fisheries is very broad and comprehensive, and who also has had a long experience in dealing with the every day and practical side of the question.

The sub-committee was to report here yesterday, and investigate the menhaden fisheries of Rhode Island. The chairman, Senator Lapham of New York, appeared on Thursday, but no other member came on. Senator Windom of Minnesota is looking after his political "fences"; Senator Morgan of Alabama is studying the problem of his re-election; Senator Miller of California was in New York, to receive his family on their return from Europe, and Senator Edmunds of Vermont is kept at home by a recent family affliction. On Thursday afternoon Senator Lapham went to Tiverton in the fish commission's steamer Lookout and went over some of the extensive menhaden oil works located there. Senator Lapham met Mr. Church, but the only new information he obtained was that this year all the menhaden are south of the Potomac, whither the fishing craft had gone after them. Yesterday Senator Lapham spent the day in Newport, taking testimony on the subject of the menhaden industry as affecting the food fisheries. He was to return to New York last evening.

It is not probable that Congress will attempt any prohibitory legislation of the sort requested by the petitioners. Most of the stir against the menhaden comes from the New Jersey coast. Here the fish is caught in large quantities for the manufacture of oil and manure. Petitioners who want the business checked, say that the blue fish and other food fishes which frequent the coast feed upon menhaden, and that the "wholesale destruction" of the latter by the nets is driving away the fish which subsist upon them. The oil manufacturers deny this, and, it seems to us, with reason. The fish in the ocean are numberless, and the little that the fisherman can do is hardly worthy to be estimated. The small amount of fish taken in comparison with the estimated multitudes in the ocean is the merest tride. The amateur fishermen of New Jersey, in case the fish are not as plentiful as usual, at once charge the responsibility on the menhaden fishermen, entirely overlooking the fact that the coming and going of the fish from season to season, one year plentiful and the next year scarce, is an unexplained problem. We have no fear that this committee, after consultation with Professor Baird, and a thorough investigation of the subject, will recommend the summary abolishment of the menhaden fishery.

Lower Postage Promised.

If the balance sheet of the post office department this year makes as favorable a showing as is now looked for, the postmaster general will recommend that Congress reduce the rate of postage. The probable plan is to reduce letter postage to two cents, and increase the weight allowed for newspapers. Another improvement in contemplation is the introduction of stamped letter sheets, combining envelope and letter sheet. This would be a great convenience to business men. The reduction of letter postage would be gratefully received by the people, and the large increase in letters occasioned by the lessened cost of sending them would go far towards making up the loss in revenue incurred by the cut down. The Government needs no revenue from the post office department, but the people will appreciate any reduction in the postal rates.

The British government has given permission to an officer of the United States Navy to accompany Sir Garnet Wolseley, commanding the English forces in Egypt, on his campaign in that country, and Lieutenant Commander Casper F. Goodrich, attached to the United States steamship Lancaster, now on the European station, has been selected for that duty. Mr. Goodrich was recently at the Torpedo Station.

The English opened fire on the enemy at several points near Alexandria, Sunday, and the feeble replies led to the belief that most of Arabi Pasha's men had been withdrawn to the interior. The British troops have advanced several miles further along the fresh water canal west of Ismailia. The porte has yielded to England's demands in reference to the military convention and the proclamation against Arabi.

Gen. Bragg, a Democratic Congressman in Wisconsin, who is a candidate for re-election, is summoned to answer a charge of swindling a Chicago hotel man out of $1250 in a confidence game. The other side does not yet appear.

The Zulu King, who is visiting London, when told of the large number of ladies, said to be attractive, employed in the ballet of the Alhambra, desired his cousin and intimate friend, Ungeongewana, to make them an offer of marriage on his behalf.

The British government has learned that not only are the Turks at Constantinople leaning towards Arabi Pashi, but that the Turkish papers are misrepresenting the numerical strength and losses of the British in the recent engagements.

Almost every State is waking up with the excitement of politics, and conventions are the order of the day. In most instances thus far, present members of Congress have secured a re-nomination when they have asked for it.

The returns of the court martial sitting on the case of Col. J. H. Taylor, U. S. A., find him guilty of having invoked political influence to thwart a change in his post of duty, to which he did not desire to be sent.

Lieutenant H. O. Flipper, the colored officer who was dismissed from the United States army, will not give up a warlike life, and has been appointed a captain in the Mexican army.

Governor Long is said to be willing to go to Congress from the second Massachusetts district, and this leaves the race for governor between Messrs. Bishop and Crapo.

Wedding at All Saints.

The marriage of Mr. Romulus R. Colgate of New York to Miss Susan Lyman Prince, daughter of Col. William E. Prince, U. S. A., was solemnized at All Saints chapel Thursday at one o'clock. The chapel was nearly filled, the audience being largely composed of cottagers and guests invited from other cities. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Shipman of Christ church, New York, assisted by the Rev. George J. Magill, rector of Trinity. The bride was dressed in gros-grain silk, trimmed with point lace. Miss Louisa Gordon Prince, her sister, and Miss Emily O. Post of New York stood up with the bride, and the part of "best man" was filled by Elliott Roosevelt of New York. The ushers were Fred D. Weeks, William Russell, Karrick Riggs, Isaac Iselin, and Robert Livingston of New York and Morton Prince of Boston. Following the wedding there was a brilliant reception at Colonel Prince's summer residence in Beach View-ave, from two until four o'clock. The house was beautifully decorated with plants and flowers, and an elegant collation was served by Pinard. The bride was the recipient of many and costly presents. Mr. and Mrs. Colgate left in the afternoon on an extended wedding tour.

Church Music Last Sunday.

The music in the United Congregational church last Sunday was worthy of a special notice. The organist opened the services with the Fugue in E minor from Bach, registered by Mendelssohn, and re-registered for two manuals by himself. Its originality and its adaptation to the occasion, at once claimed the attention of the large audience. This was succeeded by selections from Mendelssohn's beautiful "Hymn of Praise." The solos, duets and choruses were sung in a pleasing and impressive manner. The three hymns were sung by the congregation with great spirit, and when to the last hymn was added the doxology, the entire audience were deeply moved, and without doubt the volume of sound exceeded any ever before heard in Newport.

The services were closed by an excellent sortie in G by Lemmens. The entire musical service by congregation, choir and organ, in adaptation and in performance was very impressive. There was nothing light, or trivial, or calculated to arrest and dissipate a spirit of devotion, or to dispel the effect of the preacher's great effort.

Decay of the Teeth

Arises from various causes, but principally it may be attributed to early neglect or the indiscriminate use of tooth powders and pastes, which give a momentary whiteness to the teeth while they corrode the enamel. The timely use of that delicate aromatic toothwash, Fragrant SOZODONT, will speedily arrest the progress of decay, harden the gums, and impart a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes those ravages which people sustain in their teeth from the use of sweet and acid articles.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for Sick Headache, and every woman should know this. They are not only a positive cure, but a sure preventive if taken when the approach is felt. Carter's Little Liver Pills act directly on the liver and bile, and in this way remove the cause of disease without first making you sick by a weakening purge. If you try them you will not be disappointed. Sold by J. E. GROFF.

"A GIRL'S CHOICE."

It was in a drug store of course. All interesting incidents occur in drug stores,—that is nearly all. She was pretty, with blue eyes and golden hair, one of that kind of beauties the poet would have called an "angel," but for the fact that a colony of pimples on her fair frontispiece precluded all thought of a celestial being. Bowing timidly to the handsome clerk, she asked for "Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases," and upon receiving it vanished like the morning dew before the summer sun.

The crop of winter and spring wheat in Illinois this year aggregates over 100,000,000 bushels harvested in good condition.

Maine's Motto.

The motto of the State of Maine, "Dirigo—I lead," is applicable to Hunt's Remedy. It can truly say "I lead" in point of worth, merit, and cures effected, and it is rapidly assuming the lead in sales. In all cases of kidney or liver troubles, in all urinary complaints, it is simply invaluable and unapproachable. Physicians have discovered this, and freely prescribe it; and hundreds who have been relieved of dangerous affections of the stomach, kidneys, and liver by this great medicine, chant its praises. Hunt's Remedy can truly say, "I lead out of weakness and disease into vigor and health." It is par excellence the Dirigo medicine.

The latest reports from the great floods in Texas bring sad intelligence. More than 200 human lives were lost, while thousands of heads of live stock were drowned on the plains. In some settlements not a house was left standing. The flooded district is as great in area as the entire State of New York.

GOOD BUTTER.

The best butter is made by the use of the Furgerson Creamer, and why? Because the cream is raised dry air, producing a dry, hard cream and a fine quality of butter.

The fact that the cream is kept at one temperature from the time it enters the creamer is the secret of its quality. This creamer requires less ice and less care than any other and is pronounced by all THE BEST. Call and examine.

The Improved Magic Carpet Sweeper

TAKE NOTICE.

That the Magic Carpet Sweeper, as now made and placed before the public, is without question the most simple and effective of any Carpet Sweeper made.

The Improvements made are numerous, such as a device for holding handle upright over sweeper while not in use, that it will not mar the walls, while moving chairs, etc. A new device for lowering the brush at both ends, to compensate for the wear. Combining, as it does, every point necessary to make a perfect article in this line—Simplicity, Effectiveness, Durability and ease of disposing of Sweepings. Our brush will be found to be made of pure bristles, and full weight.

WE GUARANTEE TO REPLACE WITH ANOTHER,

any Sweeper of ours having the rubbers come off the friction wheels. This point has been the one great obstacle to noiseless Sweepers. It can not get out of order. Every Sweeper is warranted. Its brush is both self-adjusting and adjustable, and this is the most simple way, with no springs to get out of order. It can be taken out and replaced without effort, and with the use of only one hand. Take one on trial; if not perfectly satisfactory, return it. Price only $2.50.

I have the common, ordinary Carpet Sweepers, such as the "Welcome" and "America," which I will sell for $2 each.

Does Prohibition Prohibit in Iowa?

A despatch from Missouri Valley, says: Despite the governor's proclamation, the saloon keepers openly carry on their business. The Prohibitionists doubt whether they can prosecute successfully, since the legislature failed to enact a penalty. A test case, yesterday, resulted in a complete victory for the saloon interests. The case was tried before Judge Donaldson.

A Queer Experience for Horses.

A low power electric wire of the Edison Company sprung a leak the other afternoon, at Nassau and Ann streets, New York city. The currents found their way to the surface of the street in such a manner that horses passing the spot completed the circuit by their stride and received the current through their bodies. The current was shut off a half-hour after the leak was discovered, but not before the crowd that surrounded what the Sun calls the great horse exhilarating station had had its fill of fun.

Hindoo Atrocities in Madras.

A terrible riot has occurred at Salem in the province of Madras. The Mahommedan portion of the community, which was greatly in the minority, was attacked by the Hindoos, who wantonly butchered men, women and children, beheading, dismembering and disemboweling their victims. The rioters also destroyed many buildings and razed the principal mosque almost to the ground.

A Murder Strangely Revealed.

A sharp rain fell at Cisco, Tex., Saturday, caused a wash-out which revealed the body of W. H. Hudson. The unfortunate man's throat had been cut, and his body had been buried by his murderers.

Various Matters.

S. A. Ricker, one of the largest operators on change in Chicago, and known as the "Corn King," died Sunday night, of congestion of the brain. —The small post town of Ben Ficklin, county seat of Tom Green county, Texas, has been nearly destroyed by inundation resulting from a water spout, in which forty persons were drowned, and the neighboring country laid waste.—Engineer Melville and several of his companions arrived in Paris, Sunday, from Berlin and St. Petersburg. Ninderman visited his birthplace on the Isle of Ruegen, off Pomerania, and met with a joyful reception from his old friends.—Desperadoes boarded an excursion train in Ohio, on Sunday, and robbed nearly all of the passengers. One of the thieves was captured.—Five men lost their lives in the destruction of a Buffalo elevator by fire which had a mysterious origin.

An Incredible Story.

Thomas Smith, a prominent mulatto resident of New Orleans, who was buried Monday, is said to have had ten wives at one time, nine of whom survive him. Seven of his widows attended the funeral services, and wept freely. Four of them rode to the cemetery, and after the interment returned to the late residence of the dead man, where, with the other widows, they engaged in a free fight about the property. The furniture was demolished, and all the women more or less injured. Smith was married by a Baptist minister every time he chose a wife.

Various Items.

The terrible gale which passed over New Foundland, recently, did great damage to the shipping interests. A great many vessels were wrecked.—Further raids are reported as having been made by the Apache Indians, in the Calabassas valley. A number of men, women and children were killed. —A national exposition is to be held in Washington from Nov. 25 to Dec. 3, inclusive, to raise funds with which to erect a statue in that city to the memory of the late President Garfield.—Two steam fishing crafts were captured by a Virginia sheriff, in Chesapeake bay, on Tuesday, for violation of the state fishery laws.—A very destructive hail storm occurred near Pesth, on Monday. Growing crops and vineyards were ruined, while many workmen were killed.

Death and Pestilence.

A. C. Hesing, long known as "Boss Hesing," of Chicago, has been murdered for his money by a servant in the State of Sonora, Mexico, where he had a mine.—Cholera is prevalent at Yokohama and Tokio.—There is fighting between Turkish and Greek troops on the disputed boundary between the two countries.—The commandant of the Navy Yard at Pensacola says that the yellow fever is spreading at Pensacola and that extra precautions are necessary.

Destructive Storms.

Very destructive storms have prevailed throughout western Texas during the past two weeks. It is estimated that nearly 100 people have lost their lives, while thousands of head of live stock and a vast amount of other property have been swept away.

Trouble in Corea.

The latest advices from Yokohama say that on July 15 an uprising of insurgents occurred in Seoul, the capital of Corea. The rebels killed the queen and nearly all of her household.

$100 REWARD!

for the man that can ask for any popular shape, color, or price in fall hats, that I have not got already in stock for my autumn trade. In selecting my new hats I have taken pains to purchase for difficult heads to fit, large shapes in small sizes, and large sizes in small shapes, to enable every one to wear a hat adapted to their size. Perhaps it would be well to state here, that I have sold the past summer and spring more than three times the quantity of hats that I did during the spring and summer of 1881; and why? I will tell you: In the first place I buy my hats for cash. In the second place I sell my hats for cash, which latter fact dispenses with the services of an extra bookkeeper. In the third place I sell

Double the Number of Hats

of any dealer in Newport, which entitles me to lower purchase prices on large quantities. In the fourth place, my expenses are less than any competitor in Newport. In the fifth place I have no accounts standing open of ten or twenty years of age for which I have to charge interest on the price of hats. In the sixth place, I guarantee every hat I sell (at any price), and take it back and exchange if unsatisfactory, every time. This is no idle talk; these are

Stubborn Facts,

and as such I defy any one to offer as good inducements to sell hats as I can. It is not friendship that sells hats now-a-days, it is the man that sells the best hat for the least money that does the business. I have

Men's Stiff Hats,

all heights of crown and shapes of brim, in black, blue, brown wine and plum colors. Hats for 50, 60 and 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.25, $2.50, $2.75, $3.00, $3.25, $3.50, $3.75 and $4.00 in stiff and soft. To be sure you can buy hats anywhere at these prices, but if you will take pains to examine hats in other stores, learn the prices, examine carefully the

Style, Quality, Band and Binding, and general finish of the hat, and then come and inspect my goods, you will satisfy yourself that you can always save 25 cents, and in finer goods oftener 50 cents in the price of one hat.

Medicines and Treatment!

No Quackery. All Her Medicines Scientifically Compounded.

Madame Secor's Prescription: Quality, not Quantity.

Heretofore the medicines prepared by Mme. Dr. Secor, for the use of her patients, could be obtained only at her Boston office, but yielding to the urgent solicitations of her numerous friends and patrons residing outside of the city, she has decided to place some of her leading remedies in the hands of the respectable dealers in medicines throughout the country, thus enabling her country friends to purchase her genuine prescriptions of their own druggists, for the same low prices that are charged in Boston. The retail prices affixed to Mme. Dr. Secor's preparations are very little higher than those of the ordinary patent medicines of the day, and her prescriptions are put up in neat packages all ready for use, or shipment to any part of the world.

These medicines are not compounded in a factory, by ignorant and inexperienced persons, having no practical knowledge of their therapeutic effects, for Mme. Secor supervises and controls her own laboratory, and she pledges her reputation to use only the very best of material in the manufacture of her remedies.—They have been submitted to the United States chemist, stood the test, and have become standard medicines for the radical cure of any or all the diseases for which they are offered.

It is not claimed for any one of these remedies that it is a cure for every disease known to the human family, for each disease needs its own specific, and the prescriptions are prepared accordingly.

The reader, to whom Mme. Dr. Secor is unknown, very naturally asks, "Who is she, and what credence can be placed in her professional skill and in the virtue of her prepared prescriptions?"

For many years, Mme. Dr. Secor has enjoyed a very extensive practice among the very best and most refined people in the world, who are ever ready and anxious to testify in her behalf, to the remarkable and astonishing cures performed, and to her general success in treating cases beyond the reach of all other practitioners. Examine the annexed list of names from among her host of friends; read carefully the few testimonials selected from hundreds in her possession; investigate for yourselves the facts, before commencing the use of Mme. Dr. Secor's medicines.

Mme. Secor takes pleasure in calling the attention of the public to some of the names of many persons who have voluntarily given her their testimonials, and whose character and position in society entitle their opinions to the highest confidence.

They certify to their personal knowledge of and experience in Mme. Secor's wonderful skill and uniform success in curing diseases beyond the reach of the most celebrated physicians, not only in their own families, but also among their intimate friends; and they have repeatedly witnessed her treatment and never known her to fail in any case where she says she can cure, if the patient will follow her directions. Having the utmost confidence in her ability, her conscientious fidelity in treatment, they most heartily and voluntarily recommend her and her medicines to all who may be in need of her services.

Don't take our word, but investigate for yourselves before commencing a course of these remedies.

I can endorse the remedies of Madame Secor, and the genuineness of many of the testimonials she produces. I personally know some of the testators. H. A. STAPLES,
(At the office of the "Golden Rule"),
Providence, in Slade Building, cor. Eddy St.

Having been afflicted for more than two years with what proved to be a schirrus cancer on the left side of my tongue, and a great sufferer during most of that time, and having had several surgical operations performed to remove the same, but failing to be cured, I accidentally heard of the many really wonderful cures performed by Mme. Secor, of 45 Snow street, Providence, R. I., and now, after having been under her treatment for about six months, I consider myself completely cured, for which I am truly grateful. The cancer, which at first was quite small, made its appearance in the early part of the year 1879. I employed the best physicians in my vicinity, who at first burned the cancer with caustic in attempts to remove it, at the same time making use of stringent washes, but it still grew and spread, and was exceedingly painful. I then placed myself under the care of the most eminent physician in the city of Providence, R. I., who cut out the cancer on the 17th of July, 1880. It soon made its appearance again, and on the 16th of September of the same year I submitted to another surgical operation, and again had it removed by the knife. Subsequently it again made its appearance, extending farther back and being larger than before. I then, by the advice of friends, went to the Massachusetts General Hospital, and on the 5th of January, 1881, an operation was performed to remove the cancer by ligature. I remained at the Hospital twenty days; the cancer was removed, and I felt encouraged for a short time, but it again began to show itself. It was then, April, 1881, that I learned of the great skill and success of Mme. Secor, and on the 16th of April I consulted her, and immediately commenced taking her medicines and following her directions. I continued to take her medicines until Oct. 15th, 1881, when I was pronounced cured. No surgical operation was performed by her, no caustic used, nor any harsh treatment of any kind resorted to; but soon after I began with her medicine the cancer began to disappear. To her wonderful skill I ascribe the cure. I found Mme. Secor to be an educated and very skillful physician, and a genial and highly accomplished Christian lady.

CAPT. BENJAMIN BRAYTON.
Bristol, R. I., Oct. 22, 1881.

My wife having suffered extremely from a tumor on the liver, and her physician not being able to afford any relief, saying instead that she not only could not recover, but that her life could not be spared long to her family, I went to Mme. Secor, M. D., 45 Snow street, Providence, having indirectly heard of her success in the treatment of such cases. I am now happy to say that after six months' treatment she is entirely recovered—the tumor has disappeared and her health fully restored. I shall be very glad to see any one who wishes to know the particulars with regard to her case.

SAMUEL FESSENDEN,
Saylesville, R. I.

Miss Mary Murray says: "I suffered from a rose cancer on the side of my tongue, and was told at the Massachusetts Hospital, after an examination by the best physician, that there was no cure but by the knife, which I could not submit to, daily hearing of so many deaths by that way. I took Madame's medicines and am cured, and have been cured one year with no signs of return."
Address Miss MARY MURRAY,
Cabot street, Boston.

PONTIAC, WARWICK, R. I., Sept. 20, 1881.
Mme. SECOR:
It is with much pleasure that I inform you that the success that you have met in doctoring my wife and sister has been altogether beyond my expectations. My wife's complaint being the "Valvular Disease of the Heart," and she had been troubled with it so long, and as it was growing worse every day we had become quite discouraged. And it is my candid belief that if she had not called on you at the time she did that she could not have lived over three weeks at the longest, as she was at the time unable to swallow anything but liquid, and that with a great deal of exertion; and she had been under the treatment of a large number of the best physicians that we could hear of, but they were of no avail. But I am certainly confident that your medicines have had the desired effect, and I would heartily recommend your skill and treatment in the cure of tumors and all troubles peculiar to ladies, and also any kind of heart disease.
Respectfully,
C. B. WILSON.

Providence, Nov. 19, 1881.
To Madame Secor:
I certify that I have been under Madame Secor for the treatment of a cancer which I have had in my breast. She has treated it successfully. When I went to Madam Secor my constitution was all run down. I had dizzy spells which I could not account for, and terrible pains through my shoulders, followed by sharp, stinging pains in my breast. I suffered in this way for nearly two years, until at last I was obliged to seek advice from a physician. I went to several and they all told me that I had a cancer. This I did not believe, and hearing of Madame Secor, I went to her, and she told me the same. So I put myself under her treatment, and am now entirely well of it, and am feeling like a new being. I am convinced with what treatment I received that the Madame is fully master of her profession, and would recommend her to all who are suffering from cancerous tumors.
Respectfully yours,
Mrs. C. F. SEAVER,
22 Susan St., Prov., R. I.

DEAR MADAME:
I, with pleasure, add my testimony to your many others, to express my gratitude to you for curing me of a Fibrous Tumor. To your great skill I owe my life. Your medicines are superior to anything I have ever taken. If I can be of service to any suffering sister, I shall be happy to do so, by giving them the details of my own experience.
MRS. E. BERKELEY,
37 Courtland St., Providence, R. I.

This is to certify that I have been troubled with a cancer on my face nearly four years, which had troubled me very much, and after receiving treatment from several physicians without getting any relief, I was induced to place myself under the treatment of Mme. Secor, and after two months' treatment I consider I am entirely cured. I shall deem it a pleasure to answer all questions in relation to my health and cure.
DR. ALBERT T. FENNER,
365 High St., Prov., R. I.

Mrs. James Dwelly, Fall River, Mass., cured of a Fibrous Uterine Tumor by the use of Mme. Secor's medicines, will answer all questions in regard to her cure.

I have been an invalid several years, have suffered greatly from chronic troubles and the nervous exhaustion induced by them. While in Boston I heard of Madame Secor Shewell, M. D., and of her skill in the treatment of such diseases. I placed myself under her care and found relief and cure. I owe the preservation of my life to her, and gladly recommend her as an able and skillful physician to others afflicted in like manner.
CORNELIA J. HUMPHREY,
Burlington, Vt.,
Daughter of Josiah Humphrey.

This is to certify that I have been cured of an internal relifrous cancer of the worst type, by the use of Mme. Secor's medicine and treatment, after having employed a number of other physicians who called my disease by every name but the right one, and doctored me accordingly; consequently I received more injury than benefit from their mode of treatment. My first physician was called April 8th, 1880, and attended me until June 21st. Receiving no permanent relief I concluded to change physicians. I then employed another, commencing June 23d, and continued under that treatment until December 11th, 1880, when Mme. Secor took my case, and in four months from that date the cancer was pronounced cured; but the strain upon my nervous system had been so great, tending at times almost to insanity, that I was obliged to take a course of medicine expressly for that purpose, which I did with the most gratifying results, and to-day, December 11th, 1881, I give this testimonial to the Madame's skill, and would add that I have found her in every respect a lady of culture, a wonderfully skillful physician, and a kind friend. To her, under God, I feel that I owe my life. I give this testimonial to the public, hoping it may meet the eye of some one suffering from this terrible disease, that they may know where they may safely turn for relief. Any person wishing to ask any questions relative to my cure are at liberty to do so personally or by letter. Address
MRS. J. F. STETSON,
Sister of John L. Loss, Pawtucket Ave.,
Pawtucket, R. I.

It gives me pleasure to say that I have been cured by Mme. Secor Shewell, M. D., of a fibrous enlargement of the uterus, with other troubles incident to ladies. I shall be happy to state my case as it is now to any lady suffering from the same cause.
SARAH H. CLARK,
28 Winter street, Providence.

This is to certify that I have suffered for many years with a cancer of uterus, and found no relief until I was treated by Mme. Secor. I am very happy to say I am perfectly well at the present time—not a trace of any former trouble. I shall be most happy to answer any questions relative to my own case. SARAH P. DUNLOP,
Cor. Fruit and South Sts., Pawtucket, R. I.

Dear Madame:—I with pleasure add my testimony to your many others to express my gratitude of being cured of a fibrous ovarian tumor, having been pronounced incurable by several leading physicians, and if at any time I can be of service to you, I with pleasure will be willing to do so.
MRS. IRA JOHNSON,
Pawtucket, R. I.

This is to certify that my wife has been cured of a cancer in the stomach by Mme Secor.
WM. L. STOKES,
27 Cottage Row, Wanskuck, R. I.

This is my statement with pleasure and truth. I have had four large fibrous tumors for a great number of years, and without any faith whatever I applied to Madame Secor, 45 Snow street, and she told me it would be a tedious case but in time she thought she could cure them, and at the present time of writing there is not one vestige of the tumor left.
MRS. OLNEY CARGILL,
Valley Falls, R. I.

Miss Lucia Negro, Dorchester, Mass., cured by Mme. Secor's medicine of a trouble which deprived her of the use of her limbs for nine years.

Dear Madame—I am only too happy that I am able (in so small a way) to favor you, after all you have done for my wife, by allowing my name to be added to the list of your references, which you are at liberty to do, and if, at any future time I can be of any service in any way, it will give me great pleasure to render it to one I esteem so highly as yourself. Very respectfully,
M. S. ROBERTS, 197 Broadway.
New York, August 3, 1879.

It is with pleasure I endorse Madame Secor's family medicines. I have used them in my own family for years, and have been cured myself of what most of our physicians say is incurable—Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. To the skill of Madame S. I attribute my recovery. I am now and have been for the last year, a well man; have not lost one day from my business since she cured me. Many of my neighbors can testify to my wife's cure, as well as my own.
HARLOW POND, Norwood, Mass.

Madame Secor, M. D., Warren Ave., Boston, Mass.:—It would be ingratitude on my part were I not to express my feelings of thankfulness to you for the great benefit my wife has derived from your medical treatment of her. Without going into any details, I will only say she feels the same heartful gratitude for the blessing of restored health under your skillful care and treatment that I do. And when we see many sufferers around us, we often remark, "How we wish the dear good Madame in Boston could administer to them!" In my own case of catarrh and asthma I have received great benefit from your medicines, and can conscientiously recommend the afflicted to your care. If I can be of any use to you in the way of references or otherwise, do not fail to avail yourself of any opportunity. Gratefully yours, ELIAS HOTCHKISS,
37 West 37th street,
(Formerly proprietor of St. James Hotel, N. Y.)
New York, Aug. 3, 1879.

Madame Secor:—It is with heartfelt gratitude I add my testimony to the thousands who proclaim your skill, having suffered intensely from fistula for a long time, and receiving no benefit from any physicians I have consulted. As a last resort I applied to you, and you have made a thorough cure. None but those that have suffered from a like trouble can understand my sufferings, for the cure of which I shall be forever grateful.
Yours, ALBERT JULE,
At Newcomb & Frost's, cor. Columbus Ave. and West Canton street, Boston.

Madame Secor:—If you wish to know whether your advice and remedies have benefited my daughter, I have no hesitation in saying that I consider her to have been benefited very much by your practice. She has indeed recovered her health to a far greater extent than at one time I thought possible under any treatment.
Very respectfully,
MRS. JOHN G. ANTHONY.
Cambridgeport, Aug. 14, 1871.

Madame Secor, M. D., 159 Warren Ave.:—I tender to you my most sincere thanks, as under your treatment I have fully recovered from a fibrous ovarian tumor of several years growth, which was attended with great pain and suffering. My family physician, as well as others, pronounced my disease incurable, but the success of your great success in similar cases I was induced to put myself under your care. Thank God! I can fully say I am free from that terrible malady, which sooner or later would have ended my days. I would say to those afflicted with tumors, and all other troubles peculiar to females, to consult Madame Secor at once, and not wait until the system is prostrated by disease. Will be happy to answer any inquiries.
MRS. W. H. POND.

Mrs. Alexander Campbell, cured of spasmodic affection of the heart, when left to die by all her physicians, by taking Mme. Secor's medicine. She can be addressed at the corner of Brookline and Tremont streets, Boston.

Mrs. Albert Jule, cured of hemorrhage of the stomach and other weaknesses peculiar to ladies, by Mme. Secor's medicine; and her husband was also cured of a malignant fistula after suffering extremely from other treatment. Address Albert Jule, in care of Newcomb & Frost, cor. Columbus Avenue and West Canton streets, Boston.

Rev. William Merrill, of West Somerville, Mass., 1881: "From experience I cheerfully recommend Mme. Secor to the public for her wonderful skill in the cure of tumors and all troubles peculiar to ladies."

Mrs. E. A. Lewis, 3 Cordis street, Wakefield, Mass., cured of an ovarian tumor by the use of Mme. Secor's medicine. Address all letters of inquiry, or call at the above address.

Mrs. William Bates, of Pembroke, Mass., cured five years ago by the use of Madame Secor's medicine, of a malignant cancer on the forehead of nineteen years' standing, will answer all inquiries about her cure.

B. W. Gilbert, banker and broker, 18 Devonshire street, Boston, writes to Mme. Dr. Secor: "After an illness of over five years, and trying all sorts of remedies and our best physicians, I was induced to try your remedies and became fully restored to health before I ever saw you, and have continued so for the past six or seven years. My oldest boy was restored to health by your care, after being given up with membranous croup; my three children carried through the scarlet fever and my wife greatly benefited. I have every confidence in your medicines, and I deem the Cholera Specific as absolutely necessary where there are children, particularly during the summer season."

"For twelve years I had suffered from the effects of rheumatic fever, with dropsy and heart complaint, and was cured by the use of Mme. Dr. Secor's medicine and treatment.
MRS. G. F. HOWARD,
Clinton, Mass.

"This is to certify that I, Eri Richardson, of Clinton, Mass., was afflicted with lung trouble and dropsy of the blood. By the help of Divine Providence and the skill and ability of Mme. Dr. Secor, I am to-day a well man.
ERI RICHARDSON.

Mrs. W. Morse, Clinton, Mass., was a great sufferer from a fibrous ovarian tumor. For twenty years unable to lift her arm above her head without pain, and in 1866 she was unable to leave her bed. In 1868 the tumor had attained an immense size. Her strength gone and flesh wasted to the bones, her friends despaired of her life. The ablest physicians in the country advised the use of the knife as a last desperate resort. The day was set for the operation to be performed, and all her worldly affairs settled, when her brother, Prof. A. A. Stewart, of Harvard College, advised a postponement of the operation until after a trial of a course of treatment under Mme. Dr. Secor. After a careful investigation of the reports regarding the wonderful cures performed by Mme. Secor, Mr. Morse consented to his brother's request, and Mme. S. took the case in charge. Hear what Mrs. Morse writes: "I thank the Heavenly Father who provided the means of my cure, and who sent my husband and brother to you, Mme. Secor. For years a terrible sufferer, I can say truthfully that I have had no sickness, not even a headache, since your wonderful cure of me in 1868. I shall take great pleasure in testifying to my own cure by you, but also to the remarkable success which has attended you in your practice with my neighbors. I can conscientiously recommend Mme. Secor and her medicines to the sick everywhere."
MRS. W. MORSE,
Clinton, Mass.

"I have been under the care of most of our eminent physicians for years. I was nine months in the Massachusetts Hospital, and was discharged as incurable. My disease was pronounced spasmodic affection of the heart. Mme. Secor took my case and cured me. I am now a perfectly well girl, and deem it my duty as it is my pleasure, to make my cure known to the public. AGNES THOMPSON," 16 Winter street, Salem.

For years an invalid without obtaining relief, Miss Patten writes, "I am now enjoying better health than I was ever permitted to know. I deem it my duty and privilege to add my testimony to the skill and success of Mme. Dr. Secor, in her treatment of all diseases," &c.
ELIZABETH H. PATTEN,
Sterling, Mass.

Hugh Sampson received a terrible blow on the front of the head, went to the City Hospital, and became so far restored as to resume his work, but was soon afterwards taken with convulsions or fits, caused by injury to the brain. In March, 1870, went under the care of Mme. Dr. Secor, and has had no recurrence of the fits, and his general health has greatly improved. Address, HUGH SAMPSON,
71 Chester Square, Boston.

Mrs. Joseph Hill, Hyde Park, Mass., writes, March 1, 1879, she had been confined to her bed or the sofa, all the time for the year previous to her calling on Mme. Dr. Secor for treatment, but soon after she commenced taking the medicine prescribed she felt a decided improvement and continued to gain in health and strength until perfectly cured. She says, "It has been a source of wonder and rejoicing to my friends to see me again able to endure so much fatigue, and enjoying such good health."

I am very happy to be able to bear testimony to a cure performed by Dr. Secor. I had been a sufferer for years; had received the best medical aid that could be procured, yet I did not get relief. Through the earnest solicitations of a friend I was induced to see Madame Secor. After the examination I was satisfied she understood what caused my sufferings. She pronounced it a uterine tumor, and said it could be cured. I put myself under her care, and in six months was completely cured; and, though it was four years since, I am most happy to say that I am now in better health than for the past fifteen years. Any lady who is suffering from the same or like cause I can cheerfully recommend her to Dr. Secor. I would be most happy to help any such person with further particulars. MRS. C. VINCENT, 3 Hanson street.
Boston, Mass., May 1, 1878.

Mme. E. A. Secor, M. D., Dear Madame:—I rejoice in being able to add my testimony to that of many others to your skill as a physician. I suffered for more than twenty years with internal fibrous tumor, and to you belongs the credit of its cure, and my deep gratitude and sincere respect are cordially extended to you.
Wife of DR. GEO. BARROWS,
620 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.—formerly of Taunton, Mass.

My dear Madame Secor:—It is with the utmost pleasure I acknowledge the great benefit I have received from your treatment. Your skill and knowledge for curing that most-to-be dreaded disease to which the human family is heir—tumor. I take great pleasure in testifying to my own, and also to the remarkable success in other cases that have come under my personal observation, in all instances without resorting to the knife or other means of torture.
Yours ever gratefully,
E. F. PROCTOR.
Gloucester, Nov. 5, 1878.

Having suffered for a long period, and three years ago lost my health from tumor, accompanied with dropsy, I could only with difficulty sleep in a sitting posture; had constant pain in my side; had previously consulted all the best medical advice, but to no avail, until I placed my case in Madame Secor's care. I will only be too happy to answer any inquiries regarding my own case, and I can refer also to others whom I have seen and known. She cured after all other treatment had failed to give even relief. I am entirely cured of my trouble, and hope others will avail themselves of her wonderful skill.
MRS. A. G. COLLINS,
Wife of Chaplain Collins of the United States Army.
Address at Chatham Mass., on the Cape.

Mme. Secor's Cancer and Tumor Specific.

A preventive and cure for those most to be dreaded diseases. Price $2 per bottle.

Mme. Secor's Uterine Tonic

For the cure of Prolapsus Uteri, Antroversion, Retroversion, Inflammation, Ulceration, Congestion, Leucorrhœa, and an inability to walk, stand or exercise—all of which are radically cured by the use of the Uterine Tonic. Price $2 per bottle, or six bottles for $10 50.

Mme. Secor's Alterative Syrup.

A specific for the cure of Scrofula, Scurvy, and all exanthema of the skin; Moth or Pimples; and for the eradication of all mercurial poisoning of the blood. Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5.

Mme. Secor's Cinchona Bitters.

As an appetizer, the Cinchona Bitters have no equal. A half wineglassful taken before eating will improve the digestion, tone up and strengthen the system, creating a thorough circulation, and while they generate a wholesome desire for food, they prepare the stomach to digest it properly. Mme. Dr. Secor has for many years used the Cinchona Bitters in her practice, with marked success, and especially with the ladies and children. Where the digestive organs have become impaired from debility, or when from any cause the physical powers have been overtaxed, these Bitters have been her standard prescription.

Every Dyspetic should buy a bottle of Cinchona Bitters and use it according to directions, not as a tipple, for it is a medicine, and should be used regularly and persistently until a radical cure is effected.

As an occasional invigorator, and for the purpose of renovating and toning the animal powers, in all obstinate cases of inactivity of the Liver, Fever Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent Fever, Weakness, Flatulency, Dizziness, and all Bilious Affections, the Cinchona Bitters are a positive cure. Masters of vessels and travelers about to make a sea voyage should before starting provide themselves with a case or two of the Cinchona Bitters, as a preventive of seasickness and reliable tonic.

Directions for Using the Cinchona Bitters.—Take half a wineglassful three or four times daily, allowing an interval of three hours. Avoid all highly-seasoned food and greasy substances.

When the Alterative is taken in connection with the Bitters, the patient should use the Bitters before eating and the Alterative after meals.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. Price $1 per bottle.

Mme. Secor's Vegetable Cathartic Pills.

These Pills are purely vegetable, containing nothing injurious to the system. As a family physic, they are invaluable and perfectly reliable. Long experience with these Pills in her practice has convinced Mme. Dr. Secor that they are the Surest, Safest and Best Pills in the market for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness, Jaundice, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Water Brash, Flatulency, Indigestion, Nausea or Vomiting.

Persons whose systems have become very much debilitated by the constant use of drugs, or other causes, will find the Cinchona Bitters of great assistance in connection with the Pills, renovating the blood and giving new vigor to the system, helping nature to free itself of all impurities.

Directions.—In case of recent occurrence, take three Pills every night for six nights in succession, and then decrease to two; afterwards to one Pill every night. Persons whose trouble may have been of long standing, should take six to begin with and decrease according to good judgment. The patient is better able to judge for him or herself, as nature will tell when the medicine has done the work for which it is adapted.

Mme. Secor's Cholera Specific.

In 1832, when Cholera swept thousands before it, this medicine was used with the most astonishing success. This compound has never before been offered to the trade; immense sums have been offered for the formula, but Mme. Dr. Secor prefers to control the manufacture of this remarkable medicine. Her private patients never think of being without it. They carry it to the country in the summer, knowing that with the specific they can cure Asiatic Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Cramps, Spasms, Vomiting, Purging, and all trouble of the bowels arising from eating green fruit and vegetables or other improper food. For infants and teething children, it works like a charm, soothes and quiets the child at once, decreasing the discharges and correcting the acidity gradually. The specific can be given to an infant only a day old, with the utmost safety, and in all cases of Depression, Languor and Faintness of the Stomach, it is an invaluable remedy.

The Cholera Specific contains no morphine or anything injurious to the system; on the contrary, it is a good, safe and healthy medicine, gives tone to the stomach and Pancreas, thereby instituting proper action.

Dose for an Adult.—In cases of Cholera, a teaspoonful every five or ten minutes until relieved; decrease the dose in all ordinary cases to a teaspoonful every hour. For infants under six months, ten to fifteen drops every two hours, or according to the severity of the case. Children two years or under, a half-teaspoonful every half-hour; use according to age.

Mme. Dr. Secor's Cough Syrup

Is highly recommended as a sure and effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat, Bronchia, and Lungs. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, long since established the fact that Mme. Dr. Secor's Cough Syrup will and does relieve and cure the most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs. Croup, Consumption of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Influenza and all Diseases of the Throat and Lungs are quickly and surely cured by the Cough Syrup. Every family should keep it on hand as a safeguard to children, for by its timely use multitudes are rescued from premature graves. Ordinary Colds yield readily to a few doses of the Cough Syrup, and it secures to the patient sound and refreshing sleep. It may be relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has heretofore exhibited when administered by Mme. Dr. Secor in person.

Directions.—A teaspoonful three or four times a day, or oftener if the cough is troublesome. Children under ten years of age may take a half-teaspoonful three times a day.

EARS FOR THE MILLION!

Foo Choo's Balsam of Shark's Oil

Positively Restores the Hearing, and is the Only Absolute Cure for Deafness Known.

This Oil is abstracted from peculiar species of small White Shark, caught in the Yellow Sea, known as CARCHARODON RONDELETII. Every Chinese fisherman knows it. Its virtues as a restorative of hearing were discovered by a Buddhist Priest about the year 1110. Its cures were so numerous, and many so seemingly miraculous, that the remedy was officially proclaimed over the entire Empire. Its use became so universal that for over 200 years no Deafness has existed among the Chinese people. Sent, charges prepaid, to any address, at $100 per bottle.

The Huckleberry Crop.

This may be said to be one of the important crops of New England, important not because of its great money value, though this is quite large, but important because it helps mainly that class whose means for getting money is very limited indeed. The aged who are past work, at this occupation followed in their younger days, during a good berry season often earn what to them is a large sum, that helps them to obtain many little comforts which otherwise they would have been deprived of. The young who have but few ways to earn money improve the berry season to pick and sell berries, that they may get mney to buy some coveted article, or, perhaps, to assist their parents in their struggles to feed and clothe their family.

A good crop of berries means help to the needy, while a short crop means disappointment and want to quite a numerous class of deserving poor.

The present season in many portions of New England is very unfavorable to the berry crop. In many localities the fruit is very small and badly dried up; what fruit there is that is worth picking is confined to the low ground, or to young bushes that have sprouted from old roots within a few years.

To the successful, progressive farmer, the huckleberry bush is an encumberer of the ground to be removed as speedily as possible; but for many years yet to come, large tracts of land in New England will be permitted to grow huckleberries, to the injury of the land owners, and to the great benefit of the berry gatherers. As long should we rejoice when a full crop comes and regret when the crop is cut short.

If the bushes could be cut every ten years it would increase the crop very much, as the fruit grows to a larger size and in greater quantities on young wood.

The Strawberry Bed.

Those who followed the instructions given in July last, and made a strawberry bed last month with pot-layered plants, are sure of a good crop next spring, unless some accident prevents. Good results may be expected from a bed made the present month (September), but the sooner the work is done, the better. Those who have not pot-layered the plants themselves, can procure them of all the principal nurserymen, who now propagate in this manner a supply of plants of the leading varieties. Of course they cost more than the ordinary plants, but many are willing to go to the extra expense, if they can only be sure of a crop of fruit a year sooner than they could have it in any other manner. Those who raise fruit for market, do not need to be told that good strawberries can be raised only on good soil. In private gardens the plants are rarely properly fertilized. Well-decomposed manure is best, and a liberal coating, three inches thick is none too much, should be spread over the surface and spaded in. In the absence of manure, a good dressing of some of the artificial fertilizers may be used instead. The plants may be set in rows two feet apart, and 18 inches distant in the rows. Some put them only a foot apart in the rows, but in rich soil this does not give space enough. In setting, the ball of earth is turned out of the pot, and put in its place in the bed, without disturbing its roots. At the time of planting, pinch off any runners that may be forming upon the plants. During the growing season, keep the bed clean by use of the hoe, and remove all runners as they appear. The plants thus treated will form fine large stools by the time cool weather checks their growth.—[American Agriculturist for September.

Whenever we get tired of wild carrots it will be well to remember that a flock of sheep will clean it out. A flock of forty that we borrowed in August and September last year cleaned the weeds from a twenty-five-acre field very nicely.—[Ex.

Perhaps no medicine is so universally regarded as a good cathartic. SWAYNE'S PILLS are prepared expressly to meet this necessity, being composed of purely vegetable ingredients, of which Podophyllin or Mandrake, Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock and other concentrated juices enter largely into their composition; the whole strength of which is extracted on an entirely new principle. They are mild in their operation, and are truly a valuable aperient and anti-bilious medicine. They stimulate the liver to healthy action, cleanse the stomach and bowels of all impurities. Curing sick and nervous headache, dyspepsia or indigestion, biliousness, fevers, drowsiness, colds, aching pains, slight chills, with flashes of heat, and female irregularities. For a bilious and costive habit, as a medicine is so prompt and effectual. Mailed on receipt of price [or postage stamps], 25 cents, or five boxes for $1. Address Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia, Pa. Ask your druggist for them.

Moving Fruit Trees.

S. D. Pratt, of Penn Yan, N. Y., writes the Farmers' Club of the American Institute, concerning the care of fruit trees, as follows:

"Remembering Professor Liebig's theory that when a vegetable is burned the part which came from the air in the process of its growth returns to the atmosphere, and the part which came from the ground is reduced to ashes, I came to the conclusion that ashes would be beneficial when applied to the roots of the trees. They were standing in soil strongly inclined to clay, with a turf around them that had not been removed for several years. After pruning them properly, removing every indication of worms, etc., and washing the body and branches with soap-suds, I began operations below—first removing the turf two feet around the tree, then, with a garden pick, the ground was loosened from six to twelve inches in depth, taking care not to injure the larger roots. Twenty or thirty quarts of loose dirt were removed, leaving a large cavity, shaped like a saucer, with the tree standing in the centre. About one pint of unleached ashes was sprinkled about the tree and upon this chip-manure was placed, nearly filling the cavity. Another pint of ashes was sprinkled upon the fertilizer, which was gently pressed down, and the whole covered with the loose dirt taken from the cavity, leaving the surface nearly as it was, excepting the turf. A young orchard was treated in a similar way. The effect was wonderful. Plum trees, that were 'goin' to the bad,' revived. Peach trees that had presented small and shriveled leaves, threw out a luxuriant foliage, and cherry trees gave fruit larger and fairer than ever before."

Agricultural Notes and Hints.

When it rains, look out for a glorious crop of mushrooms on the dry pastures.

The New York "Tribune" allows that we were $500,000,000 short in crops last year from dry weather, and the writer seems to scent trouble this year.

This is not to be a plentiful apple year, and that is bad news for cattle and horses as well as men. Possibly the acetic acid of ensilage may be grateful to animals when the malic acid of apples is not to be had.

Autumn tree-planting may begin as soon as the rains come, or before if artificial water is plenty. Now wood is about ripe and leaves may be spared, at a pinch, from a newly planted tree in early September this year.

Pickles and Pickling.

The number of questions which come to us every summer is very great.—The purport of a majority of those is: "How can we put up pickles to look like those sold in jars at the stores?" The fine appearance of these pickles in bottles, is due to two things: They are made green by the use of copper, and the vinegar is colorless. It is called "White-wine vinegar," but is really made from whiskey. So far as health goes this vinegar is as wholesome as any other, but is entirely lacking in the pleasant odor and taste of cider vinegar. Handsome pickles cannot be made with cider vinegar, but they are a great deal better. The pickles are greened by soaking them to free them from salt in a copper vessel, or most generally by the use of verdigris, which is the acetate of copper. As we do not advise the making of pickles green by this process, we do not give the details. Such pickles should not be bought, and ought not to be sold. Serious results may follow the continuous use of even the minute quantity of copper these handsome pickles contain.

At the pickle-factories, the owners contract with the growers of cucumbers of a size that may be agreed upon, at a fixed price per thousand. If the size is small, the vines must be looked over every day or two. Whatever the size, they must always be cut from the vines with the stems left on them. At the factories they are placed in large, wooden vats, using half a bushel of salt to five bushels of cucumbers, with water enough to cover them. In salting them for home use, an ordinary whiskey or alcohol barrel may be used, removing one head and making a follower with boards to keep the cucumbers under the brine. The cucumbers are placed in the barrel as they are picked, and salt sprinkled among them. When the barrel is half full, add water enough to cover the cucumbers; as more are added, use more salt and water if needed, to cover them, using half a bushel of salt to the barrel. When full, head up the barrel, knock out the bung, and fill up completely with water. In eight barrels cucumbers in a brine of this strength will keep for a long time. In salting small quantities, a brine strong enough to float a potato may be poured over the cucumbers, placed in a jar or keg. It takes about a month for the brine to thoroughly penetrate them, and make fit for putting into vinegar. For family use, most persons prefer the cucumbers rather larger than those sold in bottles; whatever the size fixed upon, it is desirable to have all in the same lot as nearly of a size as possible.

The following vegetables may be salted in the same manner: Green Tomatoes, String Beans, Green Peppers, Martynias (taken when very tender), and unripe Melons with the contents removed through a hole in the side. Peppers have a slit made in them to admit the brine into the interior. At the pickle-factories, great care is taken to use only the purest salt; that containing lime is said to cause decay. Coarse salt in crystals is the best.

Recipes for the Table.

Boiled Indian Pudding.—One pint of thick sour milk, two and one-half cups of Indian meal, one heaping teaspoonful of salt, one even teaspoonful of soda, and add sweetening if you like.

Graham Bread.—Three cups of sour milk, three cups of graham meal, two cups of flour, one-half cup of molasses, three small teaspoonfuls of soda, and one teaspoonful of salt. Bake in two loaves.

Rhubarb Pie.—Beat one egg with one tablespoonful of flour and two-thirds cup of sugar, add three tablespoonfuls of sweet cream, one cup of stewed rhubarb, and one teaspoonful of extract of lemon. Sufficient for one pie. Bake between two crusts. Build up the lower crust a little around the edge to prevent juice escaping.

To Preserve Sweet Corn.—Cut the corn from the cob, be sure and scrape it thoroughly, as the best of it lies there, spread half an inch thick upon bright tins, and set in a hot oven and scald (or it may soak), then dry in a warm oven; it will dry very quick; put into paper bags and it is ready for use. Soak over night before using.

Boiled Cookies.—Take one cup of sweet milk, two cups of sugar, and three cups of flour, put all together in a pan and set in a kettle of boiling water, and cook fifteen minutes, stirring often; when it is cool add the yolks of three eggs, a teaspoonful of soda, and flavoring and flour enough to roll out thin. Bake in a quick oven.

Wafers.—One-half cup of butter, one and one-half cups of sugar, three cups of flour, two eggs, one cup of milk, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, flavoring to taste. A little thicker batter makes nice drop cakes. Both are to be dropped on buttered paper with a teaspoon.

Suet Pudding.—Chop fine one cup of suet, two cups of bread crumbs, one cup of raisins, add one cup of sugar, one-half cup of sweet milk, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves, and allspice, one egg, mix all together and steam two hours. Eat with sweet sauce.

Blanc Manger.—To one quart of milk use four tablespoonfuls of corn starch. Heat the milk to near boiling, wet the corn starch in a little cold milk, with a pinch of salt, stir into the warm milk, boil three minutes, stirring meantime to prevent burning. Before putting into the mould stir in one teaspoonful of lemon. Eat with sugar and cream, when cold.

Lemon Tarts.—Two lemons, four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, one heaping tablespoonful of butter, three eggs; grate the rinds of the lemons and mix with the yolks of the eggs, take the whites of the eggs, beat to a stiff froth, and stir in two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar; make pie paste, mix the ingredients (all but whites and sugar), fill the tarts half full and bake until nearly done, then fill up with the whites and sugar, and bake a light brown.

Lemon Custard.—The juice of one lemon, two-thirds cup of sugar, one cup of cold water, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of corn starch dissolved in a little extra water, and three eggs. Use the white of only one of the eggs in the custard, and after the pie is baked, beat the other two whites of eggs to a stiff froth, add a tablespoonful of sugar, spread over the top, and brown in a quick oven. Of course a pinch of salt will be needed in the custard.

Rice Cream.—To a pint of new milk add a quarter of a pound of ground rice, a lump of butter the size of a walnut, a little lemon peel and a tablespoonful of powdered sugar. Boil them together for five minutes, then add half an ounce of isinglass which has been dissolved, and let the mixture cool. When cool add half a pint of good cream whisked to a froth, mix all together and set it for a time in a very cool place or on ice. When used turn it out of the basin into a dish and pour fruit juice around it; or some stewed apple or pear may be served with it.

Potatoes a la Puckeles.—Cook a quart of small-sized potatoes, peel and slice them. Put them in a stewpan, with two ounces of butter, a saltspoonful of salt, half the quantity of white pepper and a teaspoonful of chopped onion. Let them simmer for fifteen minutes, shaking the pan frequently to prevent the contents from sticking. Take a large bowl, rub the inside with half a clove of garlic, break into it the yolks of three eggs, beat them with a teaspoonful of vinegar and pour over the hot potatoes. Shake them over the fire until properly mixed, and serve immediately.

A LADY SAID

"Those Horrid Pimples! No, I Cannot do. Please Present My Excuses."

Probably two-thirds of the ladies in society and homes of our land are afflicted with skin diseases of various kinds, to do away with which, if it could be done without injury, would be the happiest event of their lives. Then she would have instead of a disfigured and marred countenance, one that would be handsome, or at least good-looking, for any one with a clear, pure skin, no matter what the cut of her features are, has a certain amount of good looks which attract everybody. As it is now, she imagines every one sees and talks about "those freckles," "those horrid pimples," and other blemishes with which she is afflicted, and this is true of either sex.

To improve this appearance great risks are taken; arsenic, mercury, or high-sound titled named articles containing those death-dealing drugs, are taken in hopes of getting rid of all these troubles. In many cases, death is the result. No alleviation of the burning, heating, itching and inflammation is given. All troubled with Eczema (salt rheum), Tetters, Humors, Inflammation, Rough Scaly, Eruptions of any kind; Diseases of the Hair and Scalp, Scrofula, Ulcers, Pimples or Tender Itchings on any part of the body, should know that there is hope for them in a sure, perfect and elegant remedy, known as "Dr. C. W. Benson's Skin Cure." It makes the skin white, soft and smooth, removes tan and freckles, and is the best toilet dressing in the world. It is elegantly put up, two bottles in one package, consisting of both internal and external treatment. Our readers should be sure to get this and not some old remedy resuscitated on the success of Dr. Benson's and now advertised as "The Great Skin Cure." There is only one,—it bears the Doctor's picture and is for sale by all druggists. $1 per package.

A Sensation

HAS OFTEN BEEN MADE

by the discovery of some new thing, but nothing has ever stood the test like Dr. C. W. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills.

They really do cure sick headache, nervous headache, neuralgia, nervousness, sleeplessness, indigestion, paralysis, and melancholy.

Price, 50 cents per box, two for $1, six for $2.50 by mail, postage free.—Dr. C. W. Benson, Baltimore, Md. Sold by all druggists. C. N. Crittenton, New York, is wholesale agent for Dr. C. W. Benson's remedies.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,
For all the Purposes of a Family Physic,
CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

BY VIRTUE and in pursuance of an execution issued out of the Supreme Court of this State, within and for the county of Newport, on this third day of May, A. D. 1882, and returnable to the September term of said court, A. D. 1882, upon a judgment rendered by said court on the 1st day of May A. D. 1882, in favor of Clement Ferguson and Mary F. Ferguson, his wife in her right, both of the city, county and State of New York, plaintiffs, and against Albert G. Thorp, of the same New York, defendant, I have this day, at 30 minutes past three o'clock p. m., levied the said execution on all the right, title and interest which the said defendant, Albert G. Thorp, had on the 14th day of April, A. D. 1882, at five minutes past one o'clock p. m. (the time of the attachment on the original writ in said suit), in and to a certain tract or parcel of land, with all the buildings and improvements thereupon and the appurtenances thereof, situated in the 5th Ward of the city of Newport, in said county of Newport, in the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, and bounded:

NORTHERLY, on Wellington avenue, there measuring three hundred and seventy-three and three-tenths (373 3 10) feet;
WESTERLY, on a street forty (40) feet wide;
SOUTHERLY, on land of Robert H. McCurdy, and
EASTERLY, on a street forty (40) feet wide; and containing about eight (8) acres and seven hundred and fifty-six one thousandth (750-1000) of an acre of land;

AND

NOTICE is hereby given that I will sell the said attached estate at a public auction to be held at the Sheriff's Office, in the State House in said city of Newport, in said county of Newport, on Monday, the 7th day of August, A. D. 1882, at 12 o'clock, noon, for the satisfaction of said execution, debt, interest on the same, costs of suit, my own fees and all contingent expenses, if sufficient.

WM. D. LAKE,
7-15-4w Deputy Sheriff.

NEWPORT, August 7th, A. D. 1882.

Newport, ss.

The above advertised Sale is hereby adjourned to Monday, the 21st day of August, A. D. 1882, at the same time and place of sale above named. And if the highest bidder at today's sale has not then completed his purchase, the attached estate will then and there be again offered for sale, in accordance with conditions of sale announced on the first day of sale.

WM. D. LAKE,
aug12 Deputy Sheriff.

Mortgagee's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of a power of sale contained in a mortgage deed, made and executed by James O. Anthony to Albert G. Cook, bearing date September 4, A. D. 1878, and recorded in the Land Records of Portsmouth, Book No. 17, pages 231, &c.:

There will be sold at public auction on the premises in said Portsmouth, on Saturday, the 16th day of September, A. D. 1882, at 12 o'clock noon, all the right, title and interest which the said James O. Anthony had at the time of the making of the said mortgage in and to the parcel of land situated in said Portsmouth, containing, by estimation, thirty acres; bounded, Northerly, on lands of Silas David, of Gideon G. Hicks and wife and of Burrington Hicks; East, by the town-pond; South, on lands of James S. Chase, of Mary Ann Gross and of Alfred Sisson; and West, on lands of said Alfred Sisson, and part by the Bristol Ferry road and part by Silas David; or however otherwise the said parcel of land may be bounded; with two dwelling houses and other buildings thereon; the condition of said mortgage having been broken.

The Mortgagee hereby gives notice of his intention to bid at the said sale.

Miscellaneous.

"We call attention to the advertisement of Simmons' Liver Regulator, which appears in the paper to-day. This standard remedy does not deserve to be classed with the many 'patent' nostrums so liberally advertised throughout the country. It is one of the very best preparations of its kind in use; and is recommended by the regular practioners of medicine. It has a large sale in this city, and can be found in all our drug stores, a bottle or package should be found in every family, as its judicious use is almost certain to prevent a bilious attack, if taken when the symptoms first show themselves."

There are probably many unmarried men, like a bachelor, 35 years old, receiving $18 a week, who thus writes to the New York Sun on the subject of matrimony: "I have been wanting a wife these ten years. Some of my friends suggest that I want to marry rich, and am too particular. Now I do not object to riches if other things are all right. But, honor bright, if I were to find a woman who would bring nobler thoughts, make me a better man, think less of gossip about her neighbors, and more about her own home affairs, a woman well educated and not helpless, I should like to marry her, even if she did not own a copper."

He was pale and interesting,
With a mild æsthetic air;
Could read a poem in a sunflower—
Doted on a lily fair.

She cared not a fig for lilies,
Thought a sunflower not so rare;
But was pretty and bewitching,
Rather arch and debonaire.

"Tell me, dear," he gently whispers,
While the stars look from above;
"Tell me thine unspoken wishes—
Confide in me, my love."

"Tell me, darling, tell me truly
Of thy longing, soul-felt dreams."
"I would like," she softly answers,
"Half a pound of chocolate creams."

Death and Funeral.—On Monday, Mrs. Elizabeth, wife of Mr. Benjamin E. Brownell, who had been ill for but a few days with an affection of a typhoid character, died, being 49 years of age. The funeral was solemnized on Wednesday at the Methodist Church, the Rev. Carlos Bamung, of Newport, officiating.

Clambakes.—One of the most enjoyable of Rhode Island clambakes was given on Tuesday, by several young lads, headed by Masters Herman F. Holman, Joseph R. and Frank B. White and Alonzo E. Borden. They were joined by about twenty of their friends, young and old, and a very pleasant occasion was the result. It took place on the grounds of Mr. Thomas Holman, in a fine, shady place overlooking the bay. On the same day the F. F. R.'s had a bake on the grounds of Mr. Wm. Borden, 2d, at which about twenty persons were present, and were right royally feasted. Mr. Isaac B. Macomber and Mr. Leonard W. Goff have also had similar entertainment within a few days.

BLOCK ISLAND.

Bluefish are rather fickle of late, one day biting sharply and on the next paying no attention to any bait the fisherman offers. They seem to bite best when the wind blows fresh, probably less on account of any change in their appetite than because the bait is then carried swiftly through the water. On Saturday, Messrs. Orlando Willis and Seabury Mitchell, two Islanders, caught forty in an hour.

A Frightful Death.—Some two weeks ago Miss Mary Dodge, a daughter of Mrs. Nathaniel Littlefield by a former husband, was at work near a stove, when her dress accidentally caught fire. The fire blazed up so suddenly that she seemed to lose all presence of mind, and ran screaming to where her step-father was at work stacking hay, on her way passing a small pond three or four feet deep. Her father climbed down from the stack, and at length put out the fire, but not until it had made several severe burns, from which she died in agony in a few hours. Miss Dodge was 14 years old and lived on the north end of the Island.

Artesian Well.—On Friday Mr. A. D. Mitchell drove the pipe of an artesian well for the Hon. Nicholas Ball, about 100 feet west of the Ocean View Hotel. Mr. Mitchell found a layer of two feet of soil and dirt, then a bed of peat six feet deep, then a very tenacious clay, and at the depth of fifteen feet water filled the pipe, but not with sufficient pressure to flow from the top. According a pump was put in and on Saturday afternoon a large quantity of excellent water was drawn. The supply is doubtless very large. This is the first well of the kind ever tried here, and cost about $2 per foot, ready for use.

Col. Wm. H. P. Steere, Postmaster at Olneyville, died at his residence in Johnston, on Friday, the 25th ult. Col. Steere was born in Providence in 1817. At the outbreak of the civil war, he was one of the foremost and most zealous in arousing patriotic sentiments and encouraging enlistments. He commanded a company in the First Regiment, and subsequently in the Second, of which he became Lieutenant Colonel. In 1862 he was made Colonel of the Fourth Rhode Island, which saw such terrible fighting at Antietam, where many a brave comrade was laid low, and the Colonel was severely wounded. After his recovery, he again joined his command, and served until prostrated by disease incident to the service, and from which it is stated he never fully recovered. As one of the historians of the war has well said: "Of no officer sent by Rhode Island to the field, has she reason to be more proud than of Col. Steere. Through the entire three years of service, during which he filled the various positions of captain, lieutenant colonel, colonel, brigadier general and department commander, he made the record of a brave and efficient officer."

Ex-Governor Sprague refuses to deliver up Canonchet, near Narragansett Pier, to F. D. Moulton who bought it recently at auction, and has armed his castle and defies the law. The courts have been appealed to, and citations have been issued for Gov. Sprague and Mr. F. D. Moulton to appear before the September court on this Saturday, to show reasons why the purchase is not carried out by the latter, and why the former refuses to allow Mr. Chafee to enter Canonchet and make a delivery of it to Mr. Moulton. The ex Governor tells an interviewer that the sale of Canonchet was made by order of the court; and furthermore, that he did not see what the court had to do with his determination to forcibly maintain possession of the place. Another complication is even more serious, and the repeated acts of incendiarism on the Sprague estates are challenging public attention and provoking indignant comment. Two barns on the homestead estate near the print works were destroyed by incendiary fires just after midnight Monday night, involving a loss of $8000 to $9000. This property had not been sold, and belonged practically to the A. & W. Sprague Manufacturing Company.

The chief of engineers has received the last of the annual reports on the rivers and harbors of New England, that of the late Gen. G. K. Warren, who had charge of the works in the southern half of New England. A portion of the report is as follows: There has been no appropriation for the improvement of Pawtucket river, since 1873; July 1, 1881, there was available $529, which has been used during the last fiscal year to complete the repairs necessary. For improvements in Providence river and Narragansett bay, there was available July 1, 1882, $36,412, of which $31,943 was used during the year ending June 30, 1882; Aug. 2, 1882, $125,000 was appropriated; available to July 1, 1883, $128,464; required to complete the projected improvement, $320,000 (estimated), of which amount $200 000 can be profitably expended during the year ending June 30, 1884. March, 1881, there was appropriated $5,000 for the purpose of deepening the channel over the bar at the mouth of the Potowomut river, which has been done, the work having been completed Oct. 1, 1881, using up the appropriated amount; the channel was deepened to a depth of five feet at mean low water mark for a distance of 113 feet across the bar. For the dredging of Newport harbor, $45,000 has been appropriated; $24,532 was available July 1, 1882, and it was found that the mud at the bottom, instead of being five or six feet deep, was only about one foot, the under strata being sand, stiff clay and shells; $17,794 was used to July 1, 1882; the unexpended balance, together with the appropriation of $20,000 made Aug. 2, leaves $22,041 available for the year ending July 1, 1883, and $50,000 can be profitably used during the year ending June 30, 1884; the estimated amount required to complete the dredging is $87,000. The river and harbor bill, passed August 2, 1882, appropriated $19,000 for the improvement of Block Island harbor, Rhode Island; no work has been done during the last fiscal year; the appropriation, with a balance of $60 unexpended July 1, 1882, will be used for general repairs and cliff protection, which is estimated will cost $35,000 to complete, and that amount can be profitably used during the year ending June 30, 1884. For the purpose of widening and deepening the channel at Little Narragansett bay, Rhode Island, $9,711 was available July 1, 1881; $9,433 of this amount was used during the year ending July 1, 1882, and $6,000 was appropriated Aug. 2, 1882, leaving $8,277 available; $15,000 can be profitably used during the year ending June 30, 1884, which amount, it is estimated, will complete the work.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

STORM-DEFYING WINDMILL

Has withstood the test of 20 years, and is guaranteed to resist all storms on the ocean's coast. Twenty-five per cent. more powerful than any other windmill. Received the Silver Medal at the Paris Exposition, 1878, and the Gold Medal Matanzas Exhibition, Cuba, 1881. Recommended by the Judges as being the strongest and simplest method for utilizing wind as a means for raising water. Over 500 of them in operation in the vicinity of New York city. They can also be seen at work at U. S. N. Torpedo Station, Prof. A. Agassiz', and premises of the late Philip Caswell, Jr., Newport, and E. C. Homans, Gould Island.
